The University, nevertheless, hereby gives notice that it reserves the right to withdraw any subject, to change its rules affecting the admission and retention of students, or the granting of credit or degrees, or to alter its fees and other charges, whenever such changes are adjudged by it to be desirable or necessary. Attendance at Mercer University is a privilege that may be forfeited by anyone whose conduct is adjudged as not consistent with the traditions, policies, and regulations of the University.

The Mercer University Student Handbook sets forth the major policies and procedures affecting students. Because the University is a dynamic institution, changes are inevitable. This handbook will be revised as new policies and procedures are adopted. The latest edition will supersede all former editions unless stated otherwise in the text.

In addition to the Mercer University Student Handbook, the individual colleges and schools and/or campuses may develop supplemental operating guidelines and procedures. The provisions of this Mercer University Student Handbook supersede collegiate and campus policies and procedures.

Wherever the University has chosen to adopt policies and principles similar to or incorporating portions of statements of American Association of University Professors or other external bodies, the University reserves the right to interpret such policies or principles for itself and is not bound by external interpretations.

VISION AND MISSION

Vision Statement:

To change the world through learning, serving, and leading.

Mission Statement:

To prepare ministers who inspire the Church and the world to imagine, discover, and create God's future.

FOUNDING PRINCIPLES

Based on Jesse Mercer's vision, the School of Theology is founded on 10 principles that have guided its inception and will continue to guide its formation and character:

1. The School shall be founded upon the belief that Jesus Christ is the Word of God, the center and focus of faith.
2. The School shall spring from Mercer University's conviction about its own vocation as an institution, borne and nurtured by Baptists and Baptist churches and committed to undergirding the work and witness of the church as a community of faith.
3. The School shall seek to educate students who are:
 - literate and disciplined in the study of sacred scripture;
 - articulate in understanding the historical and theological issues of faith;
 - effective preachers and interpreters of the Christian gospel;

wise and compassionate in personal and social ministry;
prepared to integrate faith and life in the spiritual formation of congregations.

4. The School shall be devoted to the preparation of men and women who combine the call of God's spirit with the intellectual gifts, the emotional maturity and the spiritual discipline to become effective and responsible pastors and leaders in ministry.
5. The School shall be inclusive in spirit and practice, affirming the open search for truth, and fostering tolerance for religious and intellectual diversity.
6. By underscoring both scholarly discipline and the experience of ministry, the School shall seek to break through the dichotomy of theory and practice, claiming both reason and compassion, the mind and the heart as gifts of God and conceiving ministry as bringing the sacred to bear upon every dimension of human experience.
7. The School shall hold steadfastly to the high and defining traditions of Baptists, including the priesthood of believers, the separation of church and state, the autonomy of the local congregations as the context for mission and ministry, the centrality of scripture to the life of faith, and the resolve that neither creeds nor human affirmations of faith should stand as tests of orthodoxy.
8. While holding firmly to its high calling and to its specific responsibility for theological education among Baptists, the School shall also accept its responsibility to embrace the whole world as the creation of God and to serve the wider Christian community as the people of God who are called to live out God's purpose and presence in the world.
9. The School shall embody the historical traditions of Mercer University, valuing both intellectual freedom and the affirmation of faith as the foundations of the University.
10. The School shall serve as a continuing resource to churches, pastors and professionals in ministry for their continuing education and as a reference and placement service for churches, pastors and other church leaders.

MERCER UNIVERSITY'S MISSION

Mercer University's mission is to teach, to learn, to create, to discover, to inspire, to empower and to serve.

In fulfilling this mission, the University supports undergraduate, graduate, and professional learning as well as basic research and its application in service to others. As a university committed to excellence and innovation, Mercer challenges members of its community to meet and exceed high standards in their teaching, learning, research, scholarship and service.

Founded by Baptists in 1833, Mercer is an independent university that remains grounded in a tradition that embraces freedom of the mind and spirit, cherishes the equal worth of every individual, and commits to serving the needs of humankind. As a reflection of this heritage:

We encourage our students to discover and develop fully their unique combination of gifts and talents to become leaders who make a positive difference in the world.

We seek to inspire members of our community to live virtuous and meaningful lives by using their gifts and talents to serve the needs of humankind as an expression of their love for God and neighbor.

We seek to enrich the mind and spirit by promoting and facilitating an open and rigorous search for truth and understanding, including an examination of the moral, religious and ethical questions of this and every age.

We affirm and respect the dignity and sacred worth of every person and celebrate both our commonalities and our differences.

SPIRITUAL & COMMUNITY LIFE

A crucial component of theological education is the experience of shared life and faith. At the School of Theology, the faculty and staff are committed to the practice of Christian community and encourage all students to enter as fully as possible into this community of faith. Spiritual formation at McAfee is intentional and present in all aspects of the School of Theology life through worship, prayers, small groups, and many other ways. Students, staff, and faculty members join together as people of faith growing together in the grace and knowledge of God. We provide a variety of resources that assist persons in enhancing their relationship with God. We believe that living life together and in community is a vital part of a growing and deepening faith.

Chapel

We believe a crucial part of theological education is the experience of shared life and faith. Mercer University's McAfee School of Theology encourages all students to contribute to this community of faith. Led by various members of the McAfee community, chapel is a weekly opportunity for faculty, staff, and students to share in each other's joys and sorrows, triumphs, and concerns. It is a time in which we encounter the Spirit of God as we develop friendships and bonds that last long after graduation. The McAfee Community meets together for Christian worship every Tuesday morning at 11 a.m. during the fall and spring semesters when classes are in session.

Interfaith Prayer Garden and Labyrinth

Mercer University, in partnership with Aziz Dhanani, a graduate of Aligarh Muslim University, our Muslim partners in India, and the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship of Georgia, dedicated its interfaith prayer garden and labyrinth on May 14, 2015, on the Cecil B. Day Graduate and Professional Campus in Atlanta. The faculty of Mercer's McAfee School of Theology often use this garden and its outdoor classroom for experiential learning. Anyone is welcome to use the labyrinth at any time for their own spiritual edification.

Spiritual Formation

Creating and building community are important factors in a student's success at seminary. To begin building that community on their first day of class, all first-year students are enrolled in a course called Spiritual Formation. The purpose of the course is two-fold: (1) to help students develop spiritual practices that will sustain them throughout their seminary experience; and (2) to form relationships with other students that will provide support, fellowship, and conversation as they grow academically, spiritually, and professionally.

Faculty/Staff/Student Community Retreat

Each academic year, there is a retreat for faculty, staff, and students to encourage fellowship among the McAfee community. At the retreat, the whole McAfee community engages with one another and with their own spiritual lives. There is both scheduled and unscheduled time set aside for spiritual enrichment for our community through prayer, recreation, small and large group activities, and shared meals. The retreat is mandatory for all Spiritual Formation students. Many students choose to go on the retreat each year even after they have completed the Spiritual Formation requirement.

Student Advocacy and Leadership Team (SALT)

The Student Advocacy and Leadership Team (SALT) is a vital part of the School of Theology community and act as liaisons between the student body and the faculty. SALT sponsors student forums at which students are given the opportunity to voice concerns and suggestions that will be presented to the faculty. In addition, SALT organizes gatherings, service opportunities, and fellowships that allow students to enjoy spending time together in an informal atmosphere. Dr. Karen Massey serves as the faculty advisor. Copies of SALT's Constitution are available in the Associate Dean's office.

Additionally, there are a growing number of campus-wide student groups on the Atlanta campus that students can join, including Bethel Campus Fellowship, Golden Cure, the Black Student Union at Mercer Atlanta and the Mercer Gaming Group.

The Committee on Diversity and Inclusion

Founded in 2016, this Committee is charged with promoting and encouraging diversity and inclusivity in all aspects of McAfee community life. Consistent with the mission and founding principles of the School, the Committee affirms that inclusivity, the open search for truth, and the embracing of diversity in all its forms enhance our spiritual growth, moral formation, and ministerial development. The Committee's efforts are particularly focused upon issues of race/ethnicity, gender, sexuality, disability, and theological diversity. Its membership is appointed by the Dean and includes representation from faculty, staff, and students.

Chat with the Dean

At McAfee, students play an important role in the life of the seminary community. Therefore, their voices are heard and taken seriously. Each month, the Student Advocacy and Leadership Team (SALT) schedules a forum for students to meet with Dean for conversation. Chat With the Dean provides students with the opportunity to get to know the Dean, to be informed about events happening at McAfee and Mercer University, and to share ideas and concerns for improving life within the McAfee community.

Faculty Advisors

Upon enrollment at the McAfee School of Theology, each student is assigned a faculty advisor. The faculty advisor plays an important role in providing academic counseling and personal support to help ensure a student's success in seminary. Regular conversations between students and advisors may include vocational guidance, professional networking, resource materials, registration, tips for academic success, or personal encouragement.

Founders Day and Presentations to the Incoming Class

The first Convocation for the School of Theology was held in 1997 and then in 2007 the School reimagined the opening service of the academic year as Founders Day, in honor and celebration of our common calling, the stories of our faith, and the particular heritage of this School. Each fall, faculty, staff, students, alumni, and friends of McAfee gather to worship and celebrate the beginning of the new academic year. During this service, the incoming M.A.C.M., M.Div., and M.T.S. students are recognized and presented with gifts symbolizing their official matriculation as students at the McAfee School of Theology and the beginning of their academic journey in theological education. The M.A.C.M. and M.Div. new students receive white stoles embroidered with a gold cross on the outside and the McAfee logo on the inside. Often a symbol of ordination, ministers wear stoles when performing weddings, funerals, and other ministerial functions. McAfee is not presenting stoles as a sign of ordination; rather, this is a blessing of students' giftedness and call to ministry and McAfee's investment in their formation as ministers. The M.T.S. students received a pen and inkwell, symbolizing their call to academic research and writing in the field of theology and religion.

John R. Claypool Preaching Awards

Dr. John Claypool was a nationally-known preacher and author of several books. We were blessed to have Dr. John Claypool as a beloved preacher, pastor, and professor at the McAfee School of Theology from 2002 to 2005. After his untimely death, the Claypool family started The John R. Claypool Preaching Awards as a way to honor his life, to celebrate his love of preaching, and to encourage talented young preachers to carry on his legacy. Each year, current students are invited to submit a sermon to the Faculty Committee for review. Cash awards are given ($500 to the first place winner and $300 to the second place winner) and winners preach in chapel in the Spring.

Ministerial & Public Leadership Internships

McAfee School of Theology seeks "to equip students for Christian leadership through mentoring...and the integration of scholarship with professional experience." Internships are an essential aspect of preparing educated and creative leaders for ministry in the world. Through required internships, students at McAfee integrate classroom content with practical experience in churches, hospitals, social service agencies, mission contexts, and other clinical and ecclesial settings. Students explore calling and ministerial identity, cultivate the ability to think theologically and incarnationally about ministry, and practice appropriate skills for ministry.

Students in the Master of Divinity and Master of Arts in Christian Ministry degree programs complete 6 hours of internship and students may choose between one of two ways to complete this requirement: Leadership in Context and the Church or Clinical Pastoral Education. More can be learned about these courses under the official course descriptions.

Vocational Discernment & Placement

Our Vocational Services Office is available to both current students and alumni. Current Masters students meet with this office twice during their seminary journey to discuss and discern vocational plans following seminary. Students may reach out to the office at any time for part-time work, job seeking support (i.e. resume development, interview preparation, etc.) and vocational discernment. Alumni are invited to reach out to the office if they are seeking a job change or seeking vocational discernment support. Partner churches and organizations are encouraged to advertise their job opening through this office. All available ministerial jobs are listed on the McAfee website. If you have questions, please contact Rev. Nikki Hardeman at (678) 547-357 or hardeman_ln@mercer.edu.

The Peter Rhea and Ellen Jones New Testament Lectures were established in 2009 to provide opportunities to meet, hear, and converse with leading New Testament scholars.

The William L. Self Lectures was established in 1997 to promote the practice of faithful and effective preaching of the gospel. The purpose of the lectureship is to enlighten and inspire those whose calling is to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. The lectures seek to instill in students and pastors a passion for better preaching by providing worthy models and by offering seasoned instruction and encouragement. Each year the lecture series features a nationally recognized preacher.

The D. Perry & Betty Ginn Lectures on Christian Faith and Modern Science was established in 2008 to provide opportunities to hear leading scientists and theologians explore the interface between Christian faith and contemporary science.

The Mercer Preaching Consultation was established under that name in 1999 to provide training in, appreciation of, and inspiration for the art of preaching.

Partnership with the Certificate of Theology Program at the Lee Arrendale State Prison. The Atlanta Theological Association (ATA) administers a non-degree Certificate in Theological Studies program for female inmates. School of Theology students and faculty participate in the program by teaching elective and foundational courses in theology.

The Eula Mae and John Baugh Center for Baptist Leadership at Mercer University. Dr. Daniel Vestal serves as the Director. The Baugh Center seeks to develop Christ-like Baptist leaders for church and society, offering academic programs and promotes research initiatives that bring students, professors, pastors, and other Baptist leaders into collaborative relationships. Attracting Baptist leaders and emerging leaders from around the world for conferences, sabbatical leaves, and research and educational programs, the Baugh Center draws on the resources housed on Mercer's Cecil B. Day campus in Atlanta.

Commissioning Service

The School celebrated its first Commissioning Service for graduates in 1998. Since that time, each spring the faculty, staff, graduates, and friends gather the day before Commencement to worship together, celebrate our graduates' accomplishments, and offer our blessing. Masters' graduates are presented with awards and receive either a chalice and paten or an oil lamp (see more below), while Doctor of Ministry graduates are hooded at this service and receive a pitcher and towel (see more below).

Chalice and Paten

A chalice and paten are presented to every Master of Arts in Christian Ministry and Master of Divinity degree graduate of the McAfee School of Theology during the commissioning service just prior to graduation. The chalice and paten are symbols of the Christian Church that recall the last meal Jesus shared with his disciples prior to his crucifixion.

The last supper has become a ritual meal of the Christian Church in which Christ's death is remembered. The chalice and paten are given to McAfee graduates as an acknowledgment of the priestly role students will play when they celebrate and observe this meal in a ministry context.

After sharing the last supper with his disciples and encouraging them to continue its observance in remembrance of him, the Gospel of Luke tells us that Jesus had to settle a dispute among his disciples about which one of them was the greatest. Jesus tells them that "the greatest among you must become like the youngest, and the leader like one who serves. For who is greater, the one who is at the table or the one who serves? Is it not the one at the table? But I am among you as one who serves.” The chalice and paten are also given as symbols of service. Those who minister must be humble in their relationship with those they serve.

Therefore, the chalice and paten are symbols of both the priestly function of ministry and the calling to serve with humility. The chalice and paten are lasting reminders to McAfee graduates that ministry calls them to always hold the two polarities of leader and servant in tension.

Oil Lamp

An oil lamp is presented to every Master of Theological Studies (MTS) graduate of the McAfee School of Theology during the commissioning service just prior to graduation. The oil lamp is the traditional symbol for higher education and in biblical sources it is often a symbol of “lighting” the way for the righteous and the wise. The oil lamp is given to MTS graduates as an acknowledgement of their rigorous academic work of researching and writing, as well as a symbol of their calling to illuminate the path of learning for others. As Jesus shared in Matthew 5:14-16, remember, “You are the light of the world. A city built on a hill cannot be hid. No one after lighting a lamp puts it under the bushel basket, but on the lampstand, and it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father in heaven.”

Pitcher and Towel

A pitcher and towel are presented to every Doctor of Ministry graduate of the McAfee School of Theology during the School’s commissioning service just prior to graduation. Ancient symbols of ministry in the life of the church, the pitcher and towel recall that moment just prior to Jesus’ crucifixion when he took a towel, filled a bowl with water from a pitcher, knelt before his disciples, washed their feet with his hands, and then dried their feet with the towel.

The pitcher symbolizes the purity of life in Christ as well as the opportunity for ministry in the name of Christ. Actual ministry only occurs when Christ takes up the pitcher, pours water into a bowl and washes the disciples’ feet. For this reason, the pitcher represents the opportunity for ministry that exists for every follower of Jesus and especially for those who are called by the church into vocational ministry. Each follower of Jesus is a potential source of healing, cleansing and hope. The towel symbolizes the humility that ought to mark every act of service on behalf of Christ in the world. If Jesus is humble enough to take the feet of his disciples into his own hands, dip them into a bowl, and then wipe the water and dirt from those feet, then certainly persons who minister in the name of Jesus should exhibit the same sort of humility in their relationship with the people whom they serve.

The purpose of McAfee’s Doctor of Ministry degree is to assist ministers of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to more faithful and dedicated service in their congregations and other places of ministry. The pitcher and towel serve as symbols that remind our graduates of this most basic calling to humbly serve others.

The Outstanding Scholar Award

The Outstanding Scholar Award was given to the student with the highest GPA through 2007. Beginning with commencement 2008, the Outstanding Scholar Award is given to students who excel in scholarly research and writing.

The Scholarly Achievement Award

The Scholarly Achievement Award is given to the M.A.C.M., M.Div., and M.T.S. student(s) with the highest GPA.

The Community Ministry Award

This award is given annually to graduates “who by the nature of their calling, sensitivity, awareness, and responsiveness, in quiet and unassuming ways have ministered to the community of faith at McAfee. These persons are not absorbed in the future. They minister here and now where they are. Waiting for another place and time in which to serve is not their vision. They share and provide ‘daily bread’ by being a companion on the way . . . now. That sharing, providing – that ‘daily bread’ – is found in myriads of shapes and forms. The symbols that accompany this award are a silver chalice and paten. As symbols of the Eucharist, they are most fitting to denote community and ministry.”

The Addie Davis Awards

Baptist Women in Ministry (BWIM) established the Addie Davis Awards in 1995 to honor Addie Davis, the first Southern Baptist woman ordained to the gospel ministry. These awards also a way for BWIM to give public recognition to gifted women seminarians. That year and in the years since, BWIM has solicited nominations for the awards from Baptist seminaries, divinity schools, and houses of study. Each theological institution is asked to nominate two women students: one for the Addie Davis Awards for Excellence in Preaching and one for the Addie Davis Award for Outstanding Leadership in Pastoral Ministry.

The McAfee Hymn

Everlasting love has led us to this day;
sovereign hands have beckoned to a higher way.
Let us lift our lives to the sacred calling;
God of all the past, keep us faithful to the last.

Mold our minds for knowing what is deeply true.
Consecrate our strength for all that we must do.
Grow us into being truer sons and daughters,
Till we love You whole; heart and mind and strength and soul.

When our path is painful, when we sow in tears,
Lift us by the hope that heals our faithless fears.
Have we not been called? Have we not been promised?
More than we may ask, love and power to meet the task.

Let us then be bound, companions on the way,
Shining for the world the light of coming day.
Make us, holy God, partners in your passion.
Give to all our days courage, hope, and endless praise.

The McAfee Oak

The McAfee faculty and staff – founding faculty (Lloyd Allen, Nancy deClaissé-Walford, Paul Duke, Ron Johnson, and R. Alan Culpepper) and staff (Dock Hollingsworth, Director of Admissions; and Cynthia Cobb, Administrative Assistant) – were so busy getting the curriculum planned, developing a catalog, defining the school’s distinctives, recruiting the first class of students, meeting with pastors and members of the Committee of Clergy and Laity for a New Seminary in Atlanta, and working with Tommy Boland on the design of the School of Theology Building that we did not think about having an opening convocation the first year of classes (1996-1997). Emily Myers, Senior VP for Advancement, suggested we hold the founding convocation in October of 1997. Plans were made to hold the convocation at FBC Decatur (where Peter Rhea Jones, chair of the Committee for a new seminary in Atlanta, was pastor), President Roy Honeycutt, retired president of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, was the convocation speaker, and President Jimmy Carter was going to bring greetings. Some 700 friends and supporters of the new seminary filled the sanctuary. A few days before the convocation, however, Robert Gozueta, CEO of Coca Cola, died, and his funeral was the same time as our convocation, so President Carter could not come to the convocation. Instead, he spoke briefly and eloquently at the luncheon following the convocation, in the banquet room at the Holiday Inn across the street from the church.

At the convocation, Daniel Vestal, Executive Coordinator for the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship, brought greetings from CBF. At the end of his remarks, he called me to the podium and gave me an acorn. He said he had been preaching that Sunday in Madison, GA, and picked up the acorn. His prayer was that the school, like an acorn that would become a strong oak, would grow into a sturdy institution that would bless future generations of students and churches.

After the convocation, I gave the acorn to Pete Pike (founder of Pike's Nurseries, a member of Smoke Rise Baptist Church, and a friend of Truett Gannon), and asked him to have the acorn germinated so that we could plant the tree near the School of Theology building (which was completed in December 1996). In the spring of 1999, in preparation for McAfee's first graduation (with ten graduates), I asked Pete to send us the tree. It was just about knee high. After the graduation, we had a brief tree-planting ceremony, told the story of the acorn, and let the first graduating class plant the tree.

We teased Pete and asked him the question everyone was raising, "Did that tree really come from the acorn Daniel Vestal had given me, or had he just asked one of his nursery workers to pick out a small tree and sent it to us. How would anyone know?" Pete assured me that the tree had indeed germinated from the acorn I had given him, and pointing to the sky he said, "He'll know, He'll know."

The McAfee Logo

The new School of Theology at Mercer had no more enthusiastic or dedicated supporter than Ann White Morton, the first School of Theology librarian. While we worked to establish traditions for the new school and make plans for the first graduation, Ann gave the money for the school to have a pre dieu (French for "pray God," a kneeling bench that could be used at the commissioning service, for the Lord's Supper, and at ordinations and weddings). She also worked with the craftsman who built the pre dieu, and together we worked over the design for the front of it. It was her idea that it should be symbolic of the cross, the empty tomb (the open area behind the cross), and the capital omega (Christ, "the alpha and omega"). The craftsman drew this out, but his rendering of the cross did not match the traditional Baptist image with a longer vertical pole, so we adjusted the drawing accordingly. The result was a beautiful and distinctive addition to worship at McAfee that has been used by countless students and graduates at their weddings and ordinations.

About the same time, the University Advancement staff said that the school needed a logo they could use on McAfee publications. They sent us several designs, but none of them expressed the mission of the school. Finally, we sent them a drawing of the pre dieu, which their artists stylized, and it has been used as the school logo ever since.

STUDENT POLICIES

These policies describe expectations of you as a student. It is your responsibility to familiarize yourself with the information presented in this Student Handbook, the Mercer University, and Cecil B. Day Campus Handbooks, along with the other information available within your specific program of study. The School of Theology reserves the right to make changes to policies and procedures without notice as necessitated by governing authorities or administrative needs.

STUDENT TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

All School of Theology students must have access to a computer with Microsoft Word (or software that can export as a Word document [.doc or .docx]), presentation software (i.e. PowerPoint, Keynote, Prezi, etc.), high-speed internet, headphones, microphone (earbuds with a mic or the built-in mic on your laptop or tablet are acceptable), and a webcam (the built-in camera on your laptop, tablet, or smart phone is acceptable) to facilitate video and audio conferencing. Students are required to access, use, and communicate through the following university systems: Mercer email, Canvas, Zoom, and MyMercer. Students are instructed on these systems at new student orientation. Any additional software or equipment requirements will be noted on course schedules and syllabi. For specific computer recommendations, please visit:

http://it.mercer.edu/student/hardware_software/computer_recommendations.htm.

ADMISSION TO GRADUATE DEGREE PROGRAMS

All persons who wish to enter one of the graduate programs at Mercer University must submit a formal application to the school that sponsors the desired degree program. Certain basic qualifications must be met for admission to the graduate programs. All programs require that students hold a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university with a specified minimum undergraduate grade point average. Graduate admissions' tests appropriate to the particular academic program are usually required. Specific requirements for each graduate program are given with the description of that program.

International Students

For study at Mercer, an F-1 Visa is required of all students who are not citizens of the United States. An I-20 Form is issued to all accepted and approved international applicants upon receipt of the Declaration of Finances. This form is used to obtain the F-1 Visa. Those students who want to be considered for a tuition grant should have their applications complete and an I-20 issued by January 15 to be eligible for financial assistance for the following fall semester. Qualified students whose native language is not English must show proficiency by scoring a minimum official TOEFL score of 79 IBT (internet based TOEFL), 215 CBT (computer based TOEFL), 550 PBT (paper based TOEFL) or 6.5 IELTS.

International students who receive a tuition grant must also show evidence of $14,000 in annual living expenses. Those students who do not receive a grant will be responsible for paying the current tuition rates. Each international applicant must complete a Declaration of Finances before an I-20 can be issued. If personal finances do not show evidence of $14,000 in living expenses, a sponsor will need to supply current bank documents in the above amount and a letter of sponsorship. In addition, we require that the student or sponsor(s) deposit $7,000 into the student's account at Mercer University by July 1 of the year the student plans to attend. The student or sponsor(s) will also be required to deposit another $7,000 by January 15 of the following semester. The University will disburse the deposited $7,000 at the start of the semester once the student has arrived for class. The School of Theology has a stewardship responsibility with regard to these awards. Students who are on F-1 Visas and are not able to meet these obligations will jeopardize their grants from the University.

Audit

Applicants wishing to audit a class must complete the audit application and be officially registered as audit students. Auditors are by nature listeners. As such, auditors are asked not to engage in course discussion or questions unless the professor has clearly communicated that auditors are invited into full participation. Auditors are bound by the same policies as any student and are expected to adhere to the Community of Respect and any class covenant. Auditors do not receive course credit, nor do they submit assignments to be graded. The presence of auditors and the number allowed in each class are at the discretion of the professor.

The audit fee for courses at the School of Theology is $50.00 per credit hour, with most courses set at 3 hours/$150.00 per course.

There is also a facility/technology fee per semester charged as follows:

1 – 8 credit hours = $17 per credit hour; 9 or more credit hours = $150.00

Non-Degree for Credit

Applicants who wish to enroll in one or more Masters level courses at the School of Theology without pursuing a degree but wish to receive academic credit should apply as a non-degree for credit student. Non-degree for credit students complete the same required course work and hours as degree seeking students for a required course.

Applicants must have met the individual course prerequisite requirement(s). If the applicant wishes to apply to a degree program in the future, courses taken as a non-degree student will be evaluated according to the requirements of the curriculum that is current at the time of application.

Eligibility and Requirements:

- Biographical Information
- Official Transcripts from all higher educational institutions previously attended. Applicants are required to have a regionally accredited bachelor's degree with a liberal arts core or proof of an equivalent degree from a foreign university.

Applicants may appeal the decision and will have the opportunity to present information to dispute the background check.

Applicants will submit an application, application fee, official transcripts from all higher education institutions previously attended, and a background check.

Students may not cross-register for courses at other institutions, nor will transfer credit outside of the School of Theology be accepted. Many courses are available both online and on campus. Students may register for one to four classes per term. Students must complete the certificate program within six years.

Current students in the Graduate Certificate Program, as well as graduates of the program, may choose to apply to a Master's level degree program. Degree Admissions section, for complete information on admissions requirements. Successful applicants must complete and submit application materials to the School of Theology Admissions Office.

A minimum grade point average of 2.75 overall and 3.0 in a student's Mercer University courses is required. The School of Theology Dean gives final approval for admission to the ASCP program and to the School of Theology.

Program Requirements

1. Students must have completed a minimum of 60 credit hours toward the B.A. in Liberal Studies degree, to include all of the general education requirements and the B.A. degree core classes (with the exception of the LBST 498 capstone) before application to the ASCP B.A./M.Div. degree. A minimum of fifteen undergraduate hours (to include the five BA/LBST degree core requirements listed above) must be completed at Mercer University prior to application to the ASCP. A student may also need to complete any outstanding general education requirements. A 3.0 GPA for all Mercer University courses is required at the time of application.
2. To complete the requirements for the B.A. in liberal studies, students will complete the LBST 498 Senior Capstone course in the semester in which they complete the religious studies concentration (eight courses) required for the B.A./liberal studies degree with a religious studies concentration. These concentration courses will align with the courses in the School of Theology Graduate Certificate in Theological Studies.
3. Students must meet all admission requirements (see above) for the School of Theology M.Div. degree with the exception of the completion of their B.A. degree.

4. Students applying for BA/MDIV ASCP program will be interviewed by the School of Theology and the College of Professional Advancement Department of Liberal Studies prior to admission into the program. The interview team will be constituted by faculty members from both schools.
5. If a student does not continue with the School of Theology, any courses completed in the School of Theology with a grade of C or higher will count toward the B.A. liberal studies degree with a concentration in Religious Studies.
6. Students in the ASCP program will enroll in the approved foundational courses as offered by the School of Theology in their Graduate Certificate in Theological Studies and taught by School of Theology faculty.
7. The foundational courses will count toward the B.A. in Liberal Studies with a concentration in Religious Studies and will allow the student to receive advance standing at the School of Theology upon fulfilling the requirements for the B.A. in Liberal Studies at the College of Professional Advancement.

The B.A. in Liberal Studies requires a total of 120 hours and the M.Div. degree requires 78 hours. Six (18 hours of credit) to eight (24 hours of credit) courses taken at the graduate level will be applied toward completion of the B.A. degree. The approved foundational courses are those offered by the School of Theology in their Graduate Certificate. These credits will provide the student with advanced standing per the School of Theology's standards, accelerating the pace at which students will go on to earn the M.Div.

BACKGROUND CHECKS

In order to fulfill contracts with our seminary partners, the School of Theology requires that all applicants undergo a criminal background check. Admission into the School of Theology is pending receipt of a background check report from CastleBranch. Applicants are responsible for ordering and purchasing their own background check directly online. Each applicant must authorize the School of Theology to obtain a background check in order to satisfy the admission requirements. The only exclusion to the background check will be special exceptions made for International Students who are in the process of obtaining, or have obtained the F-1 visa. This exception is monitored by the Admissions Office, which has the right to administer the exemption as necessary.

Failure to undergo the background check will result in exclusion from admission consideration. An individual with a criminal conviction is not automatically excluded from admission; the School will evaluate the time frame, nature, gravity, and relevancy of the conviction or charge offense in making a decision. Applicants may appeal the decision and will have the opportunity to present information to dispute the background check. There are no additional fees for the appeal process and the timeframe for considering the appeal process varies. Typically, the applicant will receive a final decision to their appeal within one month of the applicant's submission of all appeal paperwork.

PROOF OF IMMUNIZATIONS

Each student must complete the required Mercer University health document prior to matriculation. Health forms will be distributed to accepted students (see University Immunization policy).

READMIT STUDENTS

Students who withdrew from the University voluntarily and wish to re-enter the University after an absence of more than one calendar year may seek readmission.

The student must be in good standing with the University and have a cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or higher. Readmission should be requested at least four weeks prior to the date of anticipated enrollment. The following materials must be submitted to the Theology Office of Admissions:

1. A completed application for readmission. There is no readmission fee.
2. Official transcripts of any college-level work completed at other institutions since leaving Mercer University.
3. A completed questionnaire detailing reasons for the student's absence and plan for completing the degree.

All School of Theology students, as well as any student applying for readmission with less than 2.5 cumulative grade point average and not in good standing with the University, are required to request readmission in writing addressed to the Dean of the School of Theology. The letter and application form should be submitted at least four weeks prior to the date of anticipated enrollment.

Students who leave the University, and are not enrolled for three consecutive semesters, must fulfill the Catalog requirements enforced at the time of re-enrollment, including time limits on degree completion. Files are purged five years from the last date of attendance. Students who seek readmission after that time must secure new transcripts.

ADMISSION ON PROBATION

If a student was admitted on probation and earns a 2.5 or better during the first semester, the student will be sent a letter from the Dean removing them from probationary status. If the student was admitted on probation and does not earn a 2.5 or better during the first semester, the student will be dismissed from the School of Theology.

TRANSFER and TRANSIENT CREDIT

Students may receive credit for courses taken at another institution as either transfer or transient credit. The number of hours accepted as transfer and transient credit will be assessed on a case-by-case basis and in no instance may exceed 25% of the graduate degree or 30% of the professional degree. The maximum allowed credit is 23 credit hours for the M.Div. degree, 11 credit hours for the M.A.C.M. degree, 12 hours for the M.T.S. degree, and 10 credit hours for the D.Min. degree. Credit for transfer or transient courses may be awarded under the following conditions: (1) courses for the theological core were taken at a school that is accredited by the Association of Theological Schools (ATS) and accredited by an agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education; (2) the courses were master's level courses, applicable to a master's degree for the M.Div., M.A.C.M., or M.T.S. programs or doctoral level for the D.Min. program; (3) grades of at least B were received in the courses, (4) the courses fall within the maximum time limit for degree completion, and (5) the credits may not have been applied to a degree previously earned. Transfer credit is monitored by the Associate Dean. Courses taken as cross-registration through ARCHE and ATA are included in the maximum allowed transfer credits. The MTS and DMIN Thesis requirements are not accepted as transfer credit.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT

(M.Div., M.A.C.M., and M.T.S. programs only)

Should a student desire to place out of a foundation course in the programs, the student should contact a faculty member in the relevant area to schedule an interview. The student must bring syllabi and papers from previous courses to the interview for evaluation by the professor. It is recommended that the student will have taken at least two courses in the area with grades of B+ or better and demonstrate a foundational knowledge of the topic. Advanced placement must be requested within a student's first 12 hours.

REGISTRATION

Registration is required for admission to any class. The University requires all students to have a clear financial account, which includes paying all library and parking fines before registering. Students should consult the catalog for any prerequisites and special requirements for registration for specific courses.

Completing the registration process commits a student to the courses requested and to the corresponding fees and charges incurred. IMPORTANT: to cancel registration at any point, a student must notify the Registrar's Office in writing before classes begin if s/he will be unable to attend any or all of the classes for which s/he is registered. If the appropriate official form is not completed, a grade of "F" or "FQ" may be assigned, if the student does not attend class. Non-attendance and/or non-payment do not constitute official schedule change, withdrawal, or term withdrawal.

School of Theology students may obtain course schedules online at the School of Theology website or from the Registrar's Office. School of Theology students register for classes online through their My Mercer portal. Please make an appointment with your advisor prior to the first day of course registration to discuss your schedule. Your faculty advisor is listed in My Mercer.

CROSS-REGISTRATION

The School of Theology allows for up to four elective courses to be taken by Masters’ degree students at member institutions of the Atlanta Regional Consortium for Higher Education (ARCHE) or Atlanta Theological Association (ATA) under the cross-registration arrangement of the Center provided they meet the academic requirements of the Center agreement. Courses completed at non-Mercer institutions, including ARCHE and ATA schools, are counted as transfer credit. Please consult the Transfer Credit Policy for your degree program and consult with the Associate Dean for Masters Studies to determine those courses that will apply to your degree program.

Students who wish to cross-register must proceed as follows:

1. Obtain a University Center Cross Registration Form from the Registrar’s Office or the School of Theology website.
2. Fill out the Cross-Registration Form completely. The form requires the signature of the Associate Dean of the School of Theology and the Coordinator of Cross-Registration.
3. Check the calendar on the Cross-Registration form for the dates by which the cross-registration form needs to be processed.
4. A student must be enrolled in a course at Mercer University to cross-register. The student will pay the tuition of Mercer for the course taken at the other institution. The refund policy applies if a student is unable to register at the host institution or if the student withdraws from the course.
5. The form will be sent to the host school for processing. Registration will be on a space available basis and upon approval of the host institution. Communication from the host institution will specify the time and date on which the student must register.
6. All regulations, policies, and procedures of a host institution apply to the cross registered student while enrolled there.
7. Students must complete a new Cross-Registration Form for any subsequent term in which they wish to participate in the Cross-Registration Program.

As a cross-registration student, you are graded according to the academic standards and grading practices of the host institution. Upon completion of the course, the cross-registration coordinator of the host institution shall ensure that your transcript is sent to the cross-registration coordinator of your home institution for inclusion on your official transcript.

COURSE CHANGES

Course changes (dropping and/or adding courses) must be done on or before dates specified in the calendar of the current academic Catalog.

To change courses during this period, a student must complete a Course Change Request form (available at the Registrar's Office), securing the advisor's signature, if required, and the appropriate date stamp of the Registrar's Office. Courses dropped during this change period will not appear on the student's grade report or permanent record. When a course is canceled, the students enrolled in the canceled course must go to the Registrar's Office and complete a Course Change Request form.

STUDENT REQUESTS FOR CATALOG EXEMPTION

All student requests must be submitted in writing, along with any required forms, to the Office of the Associate Dean no later than the first Wednesday of the month.

INDEPENDENT STUDY

Should a student desire to take an independent study, the student must submit a letter of request to the Associate Dean of Masters Programs, a preliminary syllabus that demonstrates how contact hour requirements will be met, and approval of the supervising professor. Final approval will be made by the appropriate Degree Program Committee. M.Div. and M.T.S students will be limited to a maximum of 9 hours for independent studies and guided research. MA students will be limited to a maximum of 6 hours.

MINIMUM HOURS REQUIREMENT

Students enrolled during the Fall and Spring semesters in the Master's Degree programs are required to be enrolled for a minimum of six credit hours. There is no minimum enrollment requirement for D.Min. students.

Students who fail to meet this requirement or need an exception to the requirement must meet with the Associate Dean to discuss their academic progress and may be asked to withdraw from the degree program.

COURSE LOAD

The normal academic load for the fall and spring semesters is 13 credit hours per semester for M.Div. students, 9-10 hours for M.A.C.M. students, 11-14 hours for M.T.S students, and 1-4 hours for D.Min. students. Masters' students are considered to be full-time for purposes of Financial Aid if they are enrolled in nine hours of coursework per semester. D.Min. students are considered to be full-time for purposes of Financial Aid if they are enrolled in six hours of coursework per semester and half-time if they are enrolled for three hours. Masters' students may take 15 or more hours per semester only with prior approval of the Associate Dean of the School of Theology.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENTS

Students in the residential (non-online) M.Div., M.A.C.M., and M.T.S degree programs must complete at least 1/3 of their course credits in residence. M.Div. students must complete at least 25 hours on campus. M.A.C.M. students must complete at least 12 hours on campus. M.T.S. students must complete at least 15 hours on campus.

SUITABLE PROGRESS TOWARDS DEGREE COMPLETION

Students are expected to make satisfactory progress towards their degree completion. Students who do not demonstrate satisfactory progress by completing the minimum requirements may be asked to withdraw from the degree program.

COMPLETION OF DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

A minimum career grade point average of 2.5 (C+) is required for graduation with the Master of Arts in Christian Ministry degree. No credit is awarded for any course in which a grade below C is earned. A student in the Master of Arts in Christian Ministry degree program must complete all degree requirements within a six-year period. No credit will be given for courses taken more than six years prior to the date on which the degree is to be conferred.

A minimum career grade point average of 2.5 (C+) is required for graduation with the Master of Divinity degree. No credit is awarded for any course in which a grade below C is earned. A student in the Master of Divinity degree program must complete all degree requirements within an eight-year period. No credit will be given for courses taken more than eight years prior to the date on which the degree is to be conferred.

A minimum career grade point average of 3.0 (B) is required for graduation with the Master of Theological Studies degree. No credit is awarded for any course in which a grade below C is earned. No more than two grades of C or C+, in any combination, may be applied toward a graduate degree. A student in the Master of Theological Studies degree program must complete all degree requirements within a six-year period. No credit will be given for courses taken more than six years prior to the date on which the degree is to be conferred.

A minimum career grade point average of 3.0 (B) is required for graduation with the Doctor of Ministry degree. No credit is awarded for any course in which a grade below B is earned. A student in the Doctor of Ministry degree program must complete all degree requirements within a six-year period. No credit will be given for courses taken more than six years prior to the date on which the degree is to be conferred.

Students who are not enrolled for more than one academic calendar year must re-apply for admission and are subject to all program policies, guidelines, and requirements in place at the time of re-enrollment. Students who previously attended any of the Mercer campuses and wish to re-enter the University after an absence of more than one calendar year must file for readmission at the Registrar's Office. The student must be in good standing with the University and have a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.0 as an undergraduate or 3.0 as a graduate or professional student. Readmission should be requested at least four weeks prior to the date of anticipated enrollment. The following materials must be submitted to the Registrar's Office:

1. A completed application for readmission. There is no fee.

2. Official transcripts of any college-level work completed at other institutions since leaving Mercer.

Students applying for readmission with less than a 2.0 cumulative grade point average as undergraduates or a 3.0 as graduate or professional students are required to submit a written request to the Dean of the school of their prior enrollment. The letter and application form should be submitted at least four weeks prior to the date of anticipated enrollment.

Generally, readmitted students are permitted to graduate from the University according to the degree requirements set forth in the catalog under which they originally enrolled. However, students who leave the University and are not enrolled for three consecutive years must fulfill the catalog requirements in force at the time of re-enrollment.

Files are purged five years from the last date of attendance. Students who seek readmission after that time, and have attended other institutions, must secure new transcripts from those institutions.

PARTICIPATION IN COMMENCEMENT CEREMONIES

Participation in the graduation ceremony does not necessarily represent conferral of the degree. Degrees are awarded at the ends of terms in which all degree requirements are met. Students may participate in only one ceremony for each degree sought.

Students must meet all degree requirements (including the minimum graduation requirements for cumulative grade-point averages and submission of thesis, when applicable) in order to participate in the Commissioning Service and Commencement ceremony.

MERCER UNIVERSITY CREDIT HOUR POLICY

Purpose and Scope of the Policy

This policy defines the credit hour at Mercer University in accordance with federal Program Integrity Regulations and requirements of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges. The credit hour policy applies to all courses at all levels (undergraduate, graduate, and professional) that award academic credit regardless of the mode of delivery. Academic units are responsible for ensuring that credit hours are awarded only for work that meets the requirements outlined in this policy.

Federal Definition of a Credit Hour

For purposes of the application of this policy and in accord with federal regulations, a credit hour is an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonable approximates

Not less than one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time, or at least an equivalent amount of work as required outlined in item 1 above for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.

Mercer Credit Hour Policy

Mercer University adheres to the Carnegie unit for contact time: 750 minutes of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of 1500 minutes of out-of-class student work for each credit awarded. Mercer defines a class hour as 50 minutes. The expectation of contact time inside the classroom and student effort outside the classroom is the same in all formats of a course, whether it is fully online format, a hybrid format, or face-to-face contact with some content delivered by electronic means, or one delivered in lecture or seminar format.

Guidelines for the Implementation of Mercer's Credit Hour Policy

Traditionally-delivered (face-to-face) courses on the 15-week semester: A 3-hour course must have 2250 minutes of classroom instruction. (Law classes meet for 180 minutes each week for a 14-week semester).

Condensed courses: Classes meeting on an accelerated schedule will have the same number of instructional minutes (2250 for a 3-hour class) as those taught in the 15-week semester. Courses taught during the 8-week sessions will be scheduled for 285 minutes each week. A faculty member who, with requisite approval by the Dean's office, wishes to move some of the required direct instructional time to a web-based environment or to another out-of-class experience for pedagogical reasons must clearly delineate in the syllabus the additional out-of-class experiences that will substitute for in-class instruction. Such experiences must exceed assignments required for the fully face-to-face version of the course in order to count toward direct instructional time and must be required, structured, and faculty-directed. Faculty are responsible for designing their courses to ensure the required number of direct instructional minutes each week, as well as the expected additional student preparatory work (two hours for each hour of direct instruction). Deans' offices are responsible for reviewing and monitoring any proposed deviations from the regular face-to-face class schedule.

Hybrid or Online Courses: A course that is delivered partially or fully online must meet the same requirements of 750 minutes of direct instruction and 1500 minutes of student work per credit hour. Faculty teaching online or hybrid courses must account for 37.5 hours (2250 minutes) of direct instructional time for each 3-credit hour course. The syllabus must clearly delineate direct instructional activities, as well as any required synchronous activities required outside class session times indicated in the schedule. Courses carrying the same course number that are offered both face-to-face and hybrid/online must meet the same learning objectives, be organized around the same or comparable learning activities, and be assessed by similar, comparable assessments.

Activities that count toward direct instructional time include the following:

- In-class instruction
- In-class tests/quizzes
- In-class student presentations
- Online lectures/instruction (synchronous or asynchronous)
- Virtual synchronous class meetings
- Case studies
- Group Wiki projects
- Video presentations
- Journal/Blog writing
- Chat rooms
- Discussion boards

Field trips (including virtual)
Online tests/quizzes
Video conferencing
Virtual labs
Online content modules
Service learning
Group or team-based activities
Podcasts

Thesis/Dissertation and Independent Study courses: Courses where students are working on independent projects, such as in thesis/dissertation hours and independent studies, will conform to the standard minimum of 150 minutes of student work per week over a 15-week semester or the equivalent amount of work distributed over a different period of time for each credit hour awarded. Laboratory classes: One credit hour is assigned for 100 minutes or more of laboratory work per week throughout a 15-week semester.

Studio classes: Studio classes conform to the 750 minutes per semester for 1 credit hour requirement described above.

Performance/Recital/Ensemble: In accordance with the National Association of Schools of Music recommendations, 1 credit hour of ensemble work or applied music lessons represents a minimum of 3 hours of practice each week, on average, for a period of 15 weeks, plus the necessary individual instruction as defined by the major subject.

Internships, Clinical Experiences, Student Teaching: Such experiential, field-based courses require a minimum of 3 hours of student work per week over the 15-week semester for each credit hour awarded. Student work includes clock hours at the field site and meetings with supervisors, as well as outside preparation and assignments. Programs may require more than the minimum 3 hours of student work per credit hour and may be guided by their specific accrediting bodies or applicable state regulations.

Variable credit courses: Courses that are available for variable credit must fulfill the Mercer credit hour policy requirements and clearly articulate the expectations of student work for each credit hour.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Regular attendance in scheduled class sessions is important to the learning process and especially crucial to the interactive nature of the courses within the School of Theology. Each professor will outline attendance policies for his or her classes in the course syllabi. Students, however, must attend at least 75% of the scheduled class meetings in order to receive credit for a course. An absence is non-attendance of a scheduled class for any reason, including but not limited to, other courses, illness, work schedule, conferences, interviews, social events, church related activities, or other activities.

Attendance in fully online courses is defined as regular and continuous online presence and participation. The following indicators, based on Federal Student Loan policies, will guide an instructor's determination that a student has been in regular and continuous attendance in a fully online course:

- Timely student submission of an academic assignment or online activity;

- Student submission of an exam or quiz
- Documented student participation in and engagement with computer-assisted instruction (evidence of logging in alone will not satisfy this requirement);
- Participation in a required discussion forum, a blog posting, or online journal entry showing engagement with course content;
- Attendance in required synchronous sessions;
- Participation in required group work;
- An email from the student or other documentation showing that the student-initiated contact with the instructor for the purpose of discussion or clarification of course content;
- Any other indicator of attendance that is identified in the syllabus.

*The instructor will determine the configuration for attendance based upon the indicators above. If a student shows no online activity for 25% of the term (4 weeks for a semester; 2 weeks for a summer course, etc.), the student will fail the course. Grades will be reduced for not turning in assignments or participating in online sessions.

Because the programs are professional level, the School assumes that students have high level of motivation and responsibility. Accordingly, it is expected that students will attend class unless there are significant reasons for being absent. Professors are required to check attendance and keep attendance records. Each professor has the discretion to indicate in the syllabus his or her policy on absences, late arrival at class, or leaving before the class is over. Repeated lateness or leaving early may be counted as an absence, and the professor may penalize a student's grade for absences, if the professor's policy is stated in the syllabus. If a student is in doubt about the number of absences they have for a given course, it is the student's responsibility to check with the professor.

INCLUSIVE LANGUAGE POLICY

The School of Theology requires all students to use inclusive language in reference to human gender for coursework, theses, and dissertations. Students are encouraged to use inclusive language in reference to divinity for coursework, theses, and dissertations.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY POLICY

The purpose of this policy is to determine who may own, control, or use content that has been used in on-line instruction sites.

Faculty

It is the policy of the School of Theology that individualized content posted on online instruction sites such as Canvas, shall remain the intellectual property of the instructor who produced it. This includes, but is not limited to, syllabi, power point presentations, lecture notes, blog entries and comments, exams, and class handouts. The access to and use of these materials and tools shall be authorized and determined only by the instructor of record.

Students

It is the policy of the School of Theology that students shall retain all rights to their class work, such as papers and essays. This also includes work that is posted to on-line learning and discussion platforms, and blog entries and comments. Students will be informed if their on-line work will be retained in the course site beyond the duration of the semester, and whether others will have access to it. If a student's work is retained on a course site, and the work identifies its creator, no grade or evaluative comments from the instructor will be included.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations are conducted at scheduled times at the end of each semester. Students must report to the examination at the time scheduled. Changes in the examination schedule may be authorized only by the Associate Dean or Dean. Permission for a make-up examination due to illness or other emergency may be permitted at the discretion of the instructor.

GRADING SYSTEM

The method and manner of evaluation for course grades are left to the discretion of the course instructor as outlined in the course syllabus. A student may take an examination or submit an assigned project at other than the scheduled time only under extenuating circumstances and with permission from the instructor.

Cumulative grade point averages are computed on a quality point system. The interpretation of the letter grades and their quality point values is as follows:

		Quality Points Per Credit Hour
A	Excellent	4.0	93%-100%
B+	Good	3.5	89%-92%
B	Good	3.0	82%-88%
C+	Average	2.5	78%-81%
C	Average	2.0	70%-77%
F	Poor	0	Below 70%
FQ	Failure-Quit Attending/Never Attended	0
S	Satisfactory	*
U	Unsatisfactory	*
ABX	Absent from Final Exam (Excused)	*
IC	Incomplete due to some requirement other than the final examination (Excused)	*
IP	In Progress	*
AU	Audit	*
W	Withdrawal	*
Z	Grade not Reported	*

ABX AND INCOMPLETE POLICY

The grade of ABX denotes that the student was absent from the scheduled final examination because of sickness or another valid and compelling reason that is satisfactory to the instructor. A special examination, to take the place of the one missed, must be taken no later than mid-term of the next semester, or the ABX grade will be changed to the grade of F.

The grade of IC (incomplete) means the student is passing the class but some relatively small part of the semester's work remains incomplete because of illness or another valid and compelling reason that is satisfactory to the instructor.

A grade of “Incomplete” will be assigned if, due to exceptional extenuating circumstances and with the prior approval of both the instructor and Associate Dean, a student is not able to complete the required course work during the semester. All work must be completed by the date set by the professor, but no later than the end of the first full semester following the assignment of the “Incomplete” grade. At that time, the “IC” will be replaced with a letter grade. If the student has not completed the work by the date set by the professor, but no later than the end of the first full semester following the assignment of the “Incomplete” grade, the “IC” will be replaced with a letter grade of “F.”

It is the student’s responsibility to contact the professor before the scheduled final exam date, request an “incomplete,” and agree on a schedule for completing the work, if the student thinks that circumstances warrant the giving of an “incomplete.” Otherwise, work that is not turned in will be given an “F.” A student who receives an “incomplete” should adjust the course load for the next semester in order to allow for time to complete the course work from the previous semester. If a student begins to develop a pattern of requesting “incompletes,” requesting “incompletes” in consecutive semesters or on a recurring basis, the student may be placed on probation.

If the student does not re-enroll in the University after receiving a grade of IC and the work for that class is not completed within 12 months after the IC was assigned, the IC will be changed to a grade of F. All ABX and IC grades must be replaced with traditional grades before degrees can be awarded.

IN PROGRESS (IP)

The IP (in progress) grade is assigned only in courses that require completion of the assigned work beyond the end of the semester. An IP grade may not be given in place of a grade of “incomplete” (IC). To qualify for an IP grade, courses must be approved by the appropriate Dean’s office. All grades of IP will be converted to F (failure) if the work is not completed in one calendar year from the time the IP grade is assigned.

REPEATING COURSES

A minimum career grade point average of 2.5 (C+) is required for graduation with the degree of Master of Arts in Christian Ministry or Master of Divinity. No credit is awarded for any course in which a grade below C is earned.

A minimum career grade point average of 3.0 (B) is required for graduation with the Master of Theological Studies degree. No credit is awarded for any course in which a grade below C is earned. No more than two grades of C or C+, in any combination, may be applied toward a graduate degree.

A minimum career grade point average of 3.0 (B) is required for graduation with the Doctor of Ministry degree. Students must also earn a minimum of a "B" in all required courses.

The following provisions apply:

Enrollment documents for such courses will carry “Repeat” added to the course, and this notation will appear also on the class roll and permanent record. Hours of credit will be granted only once. The second grade recorded in the final attempt will prevail, whether it is higher or lower than any previous grade(s) and the final grade will be used in computing the cumulative grade point average. The previous grade(s) will not be deleted from the permanent record. If the original course is no longer a part of the curriculum, an equivalent course may be substituted on the authority of the department and the Associate Dean. A student may not attempt any individual course more than twice without special permission from the Faculty.

When a course is repeated, the student is subject to the Catalog restriction on the total number of credit hours that may be taken in a single term. With the Associate Dean's approval, a student who has a "C" average or above may, in emergency circumstances, be allowed to take the "repeat" as an overload.

A course may be repeated on an audit basis if a student chooses to do so. A withdrawal grade or an audit in the repeat of a course does not serve to delete the computation of the previous grade(s). Courses originally taken on a letter grade basis may not be repeated on a "satisfactory-unsatisfactory" basis. These provisions are not applicable to repeated work taken by a Mercer student as a transient at another institution.

GRADE APPEAL

If a student disagrees with an assigned course grade, the student is required to initiate an appeal with the appropriate faculty member no later than 30 days from the completion of the term in which the course was offered. Appeals received after the 30-day period will not be honored. Questions may be directed to the Associate Dean's Office.

Students are encouraged to first meet with their instructor to discuss any disagreements regarding a grade. If satisfaction is not achieved, the student may then wish to submit an appeal to the Associate Dean. If satisfaction is not achieved, the student may then wish to submit an appeal to the Dean.

If satisfaction is not reached with the Dean's decision, please refer to the Academic Grievances and Appeals Policies and Procedures in the University Student Handbook.

ACADEMIC PROBATION

M.Div., M.A.C.M., and Non-Degree

Any student whose current term GPA falls below a 2.5 will be placed on probation. The student must meet with the Associate Dean prior to the next semester to discuss course scheduling and plans for academic improvement. The student will be limited to taking no more than 9 hours of coursework while on probation. The student must then earn a 2.5 GPA or better in the following semester to be removed from probation.

If a student's current term GPA falls below a 2.5 more than two semesters in their seminary career (including admission on probation), the student will be terminated from the program. A minimum career grade point average of 2.5 (C+) is required for graduation with the degree of Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Christian Ministry.

M.T.S. and D.Min.

Any M.T.S. or D.Min. student whose current term GPA falls below a 3.0 will be placed on probation. The student must meet with the Associate Dean prior to the next semester to discuss course scheduling and plans for academic improvement. The student may be limited in the number of hours for enrollment during the probationary period. The student must then earn a 3.0 GPA or better in the following semester to be removed from probation. If a student's current GPA falls below a 3.0 more than two semesters in their program (including admission on probation), the student will be terminated. A minimum career grade point average of 3.0 (B) is required for graduation with the degree of M.TS. or Doctor of Ministry.

WITHDRAWING FROM A COURSE

A student may withdraw from a course with a grade of "W" after the course change period and on or before the last day for withdrawals as shown in the current calendar. Dates for withdrawals from special short courses are set by the appropriate division chairperson or Dean. For these withdrawals, the grade of "W" will be recorded on the student's grade report and on the permanent record. These withdrawals are not used to compute grade point averages. To withdraw officially, a student must complete a Course Change Request (obtained from the Registrar's Office). If the official withdrawal is not completed within the time limits described, a grade of "F" will be assigned if the student discontinues class attendance and performance. (See TERM WITHDRAWAL)

PERMANENT DISMISSAL

Students may be permanently dismissed from the School of Theology for any of the following reasons:

- Failing to meet the academic standard their first semester after being admitted on probation
- Failing to meet the academic standard after being placed on academic probation two times
- Violation of the Mercer Code of Conduct (See Mercer Catalog)
- Violation of the McAfee Honor Code (See Student Handbook)

Students who are permanently dismissed may not apply for readmission.

REQUIRED LEAVE OF ABSENCE

In the case of extenuating circumstances that impede a student's ability to make suitable academic progress, the student may be required to take a leave of absence for a semester or longer. These circumstances include, but are not limited to:

- Medical emergencies, chronic illnesses, etc.
- Mental or emotional challenges
- Personal issues such as divorce, loss of a family member, etc.

Before returning to class, the student must have a meeting with the Associate Dean and show evidence of having dealt with the issues that required the leave of absence and the ability to complete the degree program within the specified time limits.

WITHDRAWAL FROM THE SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

Term withdrawal (resignation) from the University occurs when a student officially withdraws from all courses in which s/he is enrolled at any time after the end of the drop/add deadline for a given session and semester. Please note that a student must withdraw from all sessions of a semester in order to complete a term withdrawal. The effective date of withdrawal is the date the form is received by the Office of the Registrar. Grades of W will be awarded for all of a student's courses when s/he officially withdraws before the published withdrawal deadlines for each session and semester. In order to receive grades of W, a student must complete the Term Withdrawal Form and submit it to the Office of the Registrar by the published deadline. A student who withdraws after the deadline must complete the form for official withdrawal, but grades of F will be recorded for his/her classes. In extreme personal circumstances and with appropriate documentation, a student may appeal to the Associate Dean of his/her college to have grades of W awarded when officially withdrawing after the deadline.

Non-attendance or ceasing to attend a course(s) does not constitute an official schedule change, course withdrawal, or term withdrawal. Failure to officially withdraw will result in academic and financial penalties.

A student who withdraws from a course or from the University when a disciplinary action or honor code violation is pending is not necessarily exempt from a sanction and the final outcome may disqualify the student from receiving a refund.

Information on Mercer's refund policies can be found in the "Financial Information" section of the Mercer University catalog.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Approved Leave of Absence

A student who is on an approved leave of absence retains in-institution status for Title IV loan repayment purposes. However, if the student does not return from a leave of absence, the student's loan grace period starts at the date the leave began.

Generally, only one leave of absence may be granted within a 12-month period. The University may grant one additional leave of up to 30 days for a reason not defined in the regulations, if it determines that the leave is necessary due to unforeseen circumstances.

Jury duty, military service, and conditions covered by the Family and Medical Leave Act are acceptable reasons for granting an additional leave.

Unapproved Leave of Absence

An unapproved leave of absence is a leave granted by the University for academic reasons that do not meet the conditions of the Title IV regulations for an approved leave of absence. However, this unapproved leave of absence must be treated as a withdrawal for Title IV purposes. For a student who takes a leave of absence that does not meet the requirements for approval, the withdrawal date is the date that the student began the leave of absence.

REFUND AND WITHDRAWAL POLICIES

Please see the current Refund Policy located online at <http://bursar.mercer.edu/atlanta/refund-checks/> and the Withdrawal Policy located online at <http://bursar.mercer.edu/atlanta/withdrawal/>

CHANGE OF DEGREE PROGRAM

The Certificate offers two areas of focus. The chaplaincy/pastoral care focus prepares students for vocations as chaplains in institutional settings (e.g., hospitals, prisons, military, universities) or as ministers of pastoral care in congregational settings. The Certificate requires nine credit hours of advanced elective coursework in pastoral theology and spirituality, a contextual ministry placement in the practice of pastoral care or spiritual formation, and a final written self-reflective paper or project. Its coursework and training activities emphasize self-reflective learning that integrates theological knowledge, practical skills, and awareness of one's personal identity, relational abilities, cultural awareness, and spiritual commitments.

ONLINE MASTER OF ARTS IN CHRISTIAN MINISTRY (M.A.C.M.) AND MASTER OF DIVINITY (M.Div.) DEGREE PROGRAMS

The online Master of Arts in Christian Ministry and Master of Divinity degree programs allow students to remain within their current ministry and professional contexts where they have already established significant ministry roots and community relationships. Within these familiar contexts, students participate in courses that allow for the full integration of learning in the context of communities in which they already are viewed as leaders or have the potential to move quickly into leadership roles.

The online programs allow the School of Theology to complement the mission of Mercer University by extending its reach into churches and neighborhoods far beyond the metropolitan Atlanta area.

Students entering the program must reside in a state or country where Mercer University is authorized to offer distance degree programs and courses to out-of-state residents.

Courses required for the online M.Div. and M.A.C.M. will be offered Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays between 5:30pm and 9:30pm (EST). For students beginning in Fall 2021, all students, including those living outside of the Eastern Standard Time zone, are required to attend required synchronous sessions at the prescribed time and be an active participant. Students should be aware of differences in time zones when scheduling their courses.

In order to facilitate the communal concerns posed by an online-only degree, students in the online programs enter in a cohort based-system with a prescribed course sequence that will allow them to complete the degree in three years for the M.A.C.M. or four years (including summers) for the M.Div. Requiring students from each entering class to be in all of the same courses together facilitates their familiarity with one another and helps build a strong community of learning.

The university has a robust distance learning support system to facilitate student integration into the life of the university. This includes the student support services outlined on the following university web page: <http://distancelearning.mercer.edu/support-services/>

Distance education students have access to all library resources that on-campus students enjoy through the University's library website. All electronic resources are licensed such that students have universal access to them, regard-less of which campus they attend, or if they are working from off campus. Distance students can request print resources held by the libraries and these materials are delivered to the student via email as a pdf or, for monographs, by US Mail. Students also have access to material not owned by the University through inter-library loan. Distance education students have access to reference and research help from professional librarians by phone, email, or instant messaging.

MASTER OF THEOLOGICAL STUDIES DEGREE PROGRAM (M.T.S.)

The Master of Theological Studies (M.T.S.) is a two-year, 48-hour graduate degree program that allows students to craft their own course of study in preparation for future advanced and specialized work in religion and theology, through teaching and research, church leadership, or community and global ministry.

The course of study allows students to concentrate in one of four broad areas: Bible, History/Theology, Ethics, and Practical Theology. All students in the degree program will complete 24 hours of foundational courses. The remaining 24 hours of coursework (directed electives) is flexible, allowing students to focus on their major areas of interest by taking electives in their area, but with direction and approval from their Faculty Supervisors. These directed electives may include courses offered by their Faculty Supervisor or another faculty in that department area, or they could also include cross-listed courses offered from another department/area that provides interdisciplinary depth to the student's area of interest.

Biblical studies students will complete 12 hours of Hebrew and/or Greek and a further 12 hours of advanced biblical studies tailored to their areas of interest, typically taking electives in the areas of Old and New Testaments. Historical/Theological and Ethics students will pursue 24 hours of electives tailored to their areas of interest, typically taking electives in the areas of history, theology and electives. Practical Theology students will complete 6 hours of specialized courses for their degree and an additional 18 hours of electives tailored to their areas of interest. Directed electives for Practical Theology students will focus on theoretical, historical, and philosophical foundations for the practices and traditions of religious communities.

Each student will complete a Research Methodology course in the second semester of the first year and a 60-page thesis or equivalent project in their final year on a topic of their choosing in consultation with a faculty thesis/project Supervisor.

Master of Theological Studies (M.T.S.) Student Learning Outcomes

SLO1. Outcome: Graduates will possess foundational skills in the study of content, context, and interpretation of scripture.

SLO2. Outcome: Graduates will possess foundational skills in the study of content and context of Christian tradition.

Each member should also set aside a non-interrupted eight-hour time block for an individual nature retreat that will provide the foundation of their final project. For the final project, class members may choose any artistic medium to communicate their experiences of the Holy in the intersection between scripture and the natural world. The final project includes a paper articulating exegetical reflections on scripture and how they influence the artistic expression in the final project.

The class is structured around reading significant works by Merton in chronological order. (Offered occasionally)

THSP 713. Postmodern African-American Spiritualities

(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): None.

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

This course explores the increasing shift away from organized religion among African American Christians, most notably millennials, racial/gender activists, and womanist scholar/practitioners. As many historically white churches have been merging, downsizing, and in some cases closing their doors permanently as their memberships age and pass away, African American congregations have appeared more stable, buttressed by the centrality of faith and the supportive role of churches in the daily lives of many African Americans, as well as by the international growth in Pentecostalism. This relative congregational stability has obscured the increasingly tenuous relationship that many African Americans have with Christian congregations and the complex spiritualities that are emerging. In this class, we will utilize fiction, memoir, and popular music to demonstrate the continuity between millennial and womanist/feminist critiques of Christianity. We will examine how African Americans are drawing upon rabbinic Midrash, African, and Eastern traditions to broaden their personal faith commitments and to articulate postmodern spiritualities. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 601. Christian Theology & Culture(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

The students are encouraged to use Christian theology as a skill to be applied in a local community context through biblical interpretation, pastoral counseling, preaching, and teaching. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 602. Suffering and Evil(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course examines the philosophical and theological challenges of the problem of evil and suffering for the Judeo-Christian tradition. Various historical theological responses are evaluated such as: the free-will defense, temporal dualism, Soul-making models, protest theodicy and evolutionary models. The student is encouraged to construct his or her own theological response. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 603. Atonement & Reconciliation(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course examines the human predicament of alienation from God, from oneself and from others. The primary metaphors of the Christian tradition "sin and bondage of the will" are examined through a survey of biblical theology and the Western Christian tradition. The course emphasizes the need for a culturally relevant Christian understanding of atonement and reconciliation in light of the life, ministry and death of Jesus Christ. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 604. Models of God(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

Models of God are central to the identity of any culture, nation, tribe, and family or self. This course asks a series of questions related to this assumption. What is the psychological and sociological basis for our search and need for the sacred? How does the religious tradition of Israel identify its understandings of God? How is the human search for the sacred formulated in a distinctively Christian understanding of God? What are the necessary components of a Christian understanding of God? This class attempts to identify the pivotal turning points in history of the Western Christian understanding of God. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 605. Religious Language(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

The course will introduce key personalities, terminology and ways of creating composite metaphors and image schemes for use in worship, prayer and devotional settings. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 606. Theology & Science(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course provides an introduction to the religious view of “the Self” and its interface with contemporary science. Religion as a cultural activity is linked with the creation and maintenance of certain kinds of self-conceptions. Religion transforms biological human identity into a supernatural related self through the use of symbols. Science is called upon to describe the “what am I” question or biological identity while religious language and theology focus on the “who am I” question of supernatural identity. It is the interplay between the languages of science and theology that we see the emergence of the responsible self who asks, “How should I act” within the community. This course encourages cross-cultural communication as a context whereby participants will benefit from the diverse backgrounds and knowledge of others. This will lead to a broader and hopefully wiser understanding of oneself. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 607. Christology(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course surveys the nature and person of Jesus Christ as recorded in the canonical Gospels and the epistles of the New Testament noting the developing discussion in the post-biblical councils and contemporary reformulations. Primary considerations include the relationship of Jesus' nature and person with the nature and person of God. The course concludes with an examination of contemporary Christological debates and their impact on the church. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 608. Ecclesiology(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course examines the purpose, nature and mission of the Church. Ecclesiology deals with the church's origin, its relationship to the life, ministry and teaching of Jesus; its role in salvation, its discipline, its destiny, and its leadership. The course will seek to address the various models and manifestations of the church in a variety of global and historical contexts. The course concludes with creative reflection on how might the church reconfigure itself for the future. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 609. Eschatology(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course surveys the branch of Christian theology devoted to the study of “Last Things.” The major issues and events in Christian eschatology are death and the afterlife, Heaven and Hell, the Parousia (Second Coming of Jesus), the Resurrection of the Dead, the Rapture, the Tribulation, the end of the world, the Last Judgment, and the New Heaven and New Earth of the World to Come. This course examines how Christian views of history and the end-times have influenced Western and Global Christianity in the fields of politics, religious movements, and literature. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 610. Faith & Atheisms(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

This course examines the growing cultural interest in the multi-dimensional claims of Atheism and asks how the community-of-those-committed-to-Christ reads this cultural event and responds appropriately. The course surveys the atheist critiques of religion in order to analyze observations about the sometimes disreputable functions of religious practice and belief. While the current attention tends to focus on “atheisms of science” by authors like Daniel Dennett, Richard Dawkins, and Christopher Hitchens, this course will also examine historical figures such as Freud, Marx, Nietzsche and that of Thomas Altizer, Richard Rubenstein and Slavoj Zizek respectfully. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 708. Theology After the Holocaust(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

Cross-listed as: THET 708.

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

This course is a critical consideration of the moral, religious, and theological implications of Nazi Germany’s “war against the Jews” --the intentional and calculated destruction of some 6 million European Jews (accompanied by the enormous suffering and losses experienced by other “undesirable” groups), which is referred to as the Shoah, or Holocaust. The course considers the psychological and social worldviews of those “victimized,” “the executioners,” and the “bystanders.” Contemporary Jewish and Christian theologies are analyzed to understand the challenges of this tragic history on both religious communities. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 709. Theology and Ethnography(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

This course assumes that Theology without concrete access to how believers live can be empty. The language of theology requires that which is not always explicitly theological language (behavior, will, perception, images, time, space, sight, sound, and the gesturing body) in order for language about God to be relevant; theology needs detailed study of these phenomena in actual communities. Ethnographic research is a fruitful means by which this manner of embedded theological interpretation makes this interface possible. The course teaches ethnographic interviewing as a process for reflection on embedded theology in a local context. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 710. Theology & Economics(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

Cross-listed as: THET 710.

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

This course examines the relationship between Christian Theology and economics on the assumption that economics and economy are not value free from the extra-economic realms of culture and religion. This course claims that economics is subordinate to theology in the sense that theological concerns set the moral parameters for the functioning of the market. Key theorists and theologians are reviewed including Adam Smith, Karl Marx, Hayek, Keynes, Friedman, and Deleuze in the field of economics, and Augustine, Aquinas, Novak, Berger, Stephen D. Long, and Philip Goodchild in theology. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 714. Political Theology(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

Cross-listed as: THET 714.

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

The Christian imagination finds itself confronted with a picture, a theological image in which God, humanity and world form a divine nexus. Believers have reasons for thinking that they live in this nexus, just as they have reasons for assuming that it offers guidance for political life. Are Christians supposed to withdraw from a corrupted world that was abandoned by the Redeemer? Are Christians called upon to rule the earthly city with both church and state, inspired by the Holy Spirit? Or are believers expected to build a New Jerusalem that would hasten the Messiah's return? These sorts of questions populate the field "political theology." Major historic events in the history of Christianity and the theo-politicians who contributed to these watershed interpretations will be examined. (Offered occasionally)

THTP 800. Special Topics: Subtitle(1-3 hours)

May be repeated with different subtopics.

Prerequisite(s): Varies.

Aquinas, John Calvin, Martin Luther, Jurgen Moltmann, and Johann Baptist Metz. The Guided Readings course is sometimes organized around topics and issues such as: Political theology, Liberation theology, Feminist theology, Post-colonial theology, and Contextual theology. The primary task of this seminar is critical reading and analysis of the material covered with the expectation that each seminar participant will actively participate in the discussion. (Offered occasionally)

Caribbean Theology(3 hours)

Prerequisite(s): THTP 500 or advanced placement/permission of instructor.

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

The Caribbean is changing culturally and racially with residents moving between the island nations, migrating from the Americas, and Asia. After mere decades of independence, these island nations struggle to determine their cultural identity in the postcolonial era. Religious identification will require newness, new ways of Biblical interpretation, practice of Christianity, and the willingness to review long held structures of leadership fashioned after those of former colonial leaders. This Independent Study will focus on the religious history of the Caribbean religion, study of potential challenges faced within religious leadership structures, and suggestions for future unity.

Making Sense of God(3 hours)

This course explores the conceptual terrain around fundamental theological ideas internal to the Christian faith, such as prayer (talking to God), the divine will, divine hiddenness, divine power, divine suffering, etc. The course examines the assumptions and assessments of skeptics and believers alike toward a renewed contemporary apologetic.

Philosophy and Race(3 hours)

Meets Cultural Context Course requirement*

This course examines the historical influence of various philosophical movements on issues of race, ethnicity, and otherness. Particular attention will be given to 19th and 20th century movements that have served as sources of both oppression and liberation.

Philosophy for Ministry(3 hours)

This course is a reading course that investigates some of the great intellectual figures in Christian history and the import of their reflection for various aspects of Christian ministry. Figures include: Augustine, Aquinas, Luther, Kierkegaard, Weil, Cone, etc.

Narrative Theology(3 hours)

Christian theology begins and ends with narrative construction, story formed method rooted in a community's sense of Origin, Purpose, and Destiny. This narrative function of theology is rooted in: 1) Intelligible human action as narrative in form, 2) human life has a fundamentally narrative shape, 3) humans are story-telling animals, 4) people place their lives and arguments in narrative histories, 5) communities and 6) traditions receive their continuities through narrative histories, and 7) epistemological progress is marked by the construction and reconstruction of more adequate narratives and forms of narrative. This course will examine breakthroughs in narrative theory and theological method over the last fifty years and will identify the linkage of biblical renderings of God's dramatis persona, autobiographical constructions of the self and biographical critique. The course will also examine the postmodern context in which we live where narratives that unite communities internally find themselves challenged by alternate narratives raising pastoral and ethical concerns for ecclesiological reflection.

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY (D.MIN.) DEGREE PROGRAM

The Doctor of Ministry degree is a three-to-four-year, 33-hour degree program and is the highest professional degree offered by a theological school. The Doctor of Ministry degree presupposes the M.Div. degree and constitutes an advanced professional degree at the doctoral level available to those seeking to enhance their ministry. Thus, it is the purpose of the D.Min. degree to provide the level of knowledge, theoretical clarity, and competence of practice commensurate with the highest earned degree for the profession and practice of ministry. Specializations in Preaching and Christian Spirituality are also available through the D.Min. degree. Thirty-three hours are required for completion of the D.Min. degree.

The School of Theology's program invites ministers, denominational leaders, and persons in a variety of ministries to join with colleagues in working for excellence in ministerial leadership within the local church by focusing on the spiritual life of the minister, the continual development of learning in the discipline of ministry, and the praxis of ministry in everyday situations.

The D.Min. degree at the School of Theology emphasizes collegial learning with professors and peers, intense study in a variety of subjects designed and taught specifically for Doctor of Ministry students, a three-semester program of analysis of ministry competencies within a ministry setting with a ministry coach and faculty supervisor, and a final written project thesis with a focus on a particular aspect of ministry. The Doctor of Ministry challenges a person in ministry to seek his or her best in response to God's calling in Jesus Christ.

The focus of the program is to cultivate in students a theologically-informed praxis of ministry that manifests the unity and interrelatedness of theory and practice. All acts of ministry are seen in the light of an informed theological vision of the nature and mission of the church in the world, and in turn, the actual practice of ministry continually shapes and reforms that theological vision.

Every effort will be made to accommodate the interests and needs of students within the limits of faculty teaching and supervisory loads. The decision for the selection of a Faculty Supervisor is reciprocal, with each Faculty Supervisor free to accept a given student for supervision after explorations of the student's interests and skills. The Associate Dean will consult with each student to determine which faculty member to approach to become his or her faculty supervisor. After positive communication from the Associate Dean, the student will initiate communication with the faculty member requesting supervision for the remainder of the program.

Ministry in its multiple facets is the focus of the program. The following areas are the primary areas of available supervision for the program. Prior to entering the program, students should seek a Faculty Supervisor within these respective areas. Brief resumes of each member of the faculty are available on the Mercer web site.

D.Min. Program Overview

Faculty Supervision

Each student in the D. Min. program will work with a Faculty Supervisor in his or her area of specialization. Supervisors provide advising in the program process, collaboration on experiential learning modules integrating research and ministry, and supervision of the Project Thesis. A faculty supervisor will be suggested in consultation with the student and the Associate Dean.

All students must be assigned to a faculty supervisor prior to beginning the program. Changes may be made in Faculty Supervision if the student's Project Thesis proposal changes or requests are made to the Associate Dean. Normally, Faculty Supervisors may teach only one D.Min. seminar in an academic year and are limited to a supervisory load of five students per year.

The student should recognize the teaching load of the faculty supervisor and understand that all consultations must be by appointment. The use of e-mail is encouraged since it provides documentation of faculty-student interaction and collaboration.

The faculty supervisor has jurisdiction over all grades given during the experiential learning units, the Project Thesis, and oral examination. The Faculty Supervisor will recommend to the Associate Dean of the D.Min. Program that a student be allowed to graduate upon completion of all degree requirements.

Experiential Learning Units

A variety of learning experiences to enhance one's knowledge and practice in ministry are completed as a core part of the degree. These units are completed in the student's place of ministry and do not require an on-campus presence. A Ministry Coach, Preaching Consultant, or Spiritual Director works with the student in each ELU and serves on the student's oral defense committee. Coaches, Consultants, and Directors must have advanced degrees and extensive expertise in their areas.

Seminars

Students will attend three D.Min. seminars of two weeks' duration each on campus. The seminars will normally be scheduled for the summer term, but may be scheduled at other times of the year depending on enrollment in the program. Each seminar will be a combination of core requirements of reading, reports on readings, written presentations integrating the seminar subject with one's ministry, and additional readings and assignments negotiated with each student. Students are encouraged to focus their reading, presentations, and other assignments upon their specific areas of specialization. A variety of assignments may be expected including case studies, research papers on a ministry topic, or examples of ministry from one's setting (sermons, verbatim, organizational analyses, contextual studies, coaching process, issues of spirituality, etc.). All students are required to register for the appropriate Seminar Preparation in the semester prior to the scheduled seminar with completion of the core preparation prior to the scheduled seminar. The additional student-negotiated research and writing for the seminar will be complete on a schedule approved by the seminar faculty leader.

Students in the Christian Spirituality specialization have a different seminar structure from all other students in the program. Two specific seminars in Christian Spirituality are required, as well as one additional seminar Seminars may be completed in any sequence. Normally each student will complete one seminar each year of the three-year program. A common syllabus has been developed by the faculty for each seminar and will be available to the student at the beginning of the semester of each unit of Seminar Preparation.

Institutional Review Board

Because student research will involve human subjects in some way (for example through surveys and interviews), students will be required to complete a statement of their methods and purpose for review by the Institutional Review Board of Mercer University. An IRB performs critical regulatory oversight functions for research conducted on human subjects to ensure such research is scientific and ethical. It may be helpful to know that a key to obtaining IRB approval of the research process is anonymity of the subjects.

Attention will be given in the workshop to the IRB process at Mercer University. Students will be required to complete an online certification process during the workshop that acquaints them with legal requirements for research with human subjects. The process of completion and certification will be covered in the Project Thesis Workshop.

Please review prior to the seminar the following brief documents at www2.mercer.edu/ResearchCompliance/IRB: “What Constitutes Research,” “Investigator Guide,” and “Types of IRB Review,” with attention within that document to “Expedited Review.”

It is recommended the Project Thesis Workshops be taken relatively early in the program. At least one seminar and one experiential learning unit are prerequisite to registration for the first workshop. Each workshop will be scheduled for one week, M-F sequentially. Students may enroll for either or both, as long as Workshop I is completed before Workshop II.

Completion of a Project Thesis Proposal worthy of submission to the D. Min. Committee is required for the completion of Project Thesis II. If both seminars are completed together, expectations of both classes must be met within the time frame of the course.

Project Thesis

The culmination of the D.Min. program is the completion of a Project Thesis. The Project Thesis should reflect the research skills learned in the program and demonstrate the student’s capacity to integrate biblical, theological, historical, and contextual research with a specific ministry project that is practical and reflective of the student’s abilities as a leader and minister.

It is recommended the Project Thesis Workshops (one hour credit per workshop) be taken relatively early in the program. At least one seminar and Experiential Learning Unit are prerequisites to enrollment in the workshops. Each workshop will be scheduled for one week, M-F sequentially. The workshops will guide the student in the processes of conceptualizing a ministry project including the specific ministry to be performed, foundational academic research related to it, and social research methods for analysis and evaluation. Attention will be given to the development of a Project Thesis Proposal, Mercer University expectations for Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval, necessary writing skills, and form and style expectations of the school will be reviewed. Completion of a Project Thesis Proposal worthy of submission to the D.Min. Committee is required for the completion of Project Thesis Workshop II.

The D.Min. Committee has established guidelines for the submission of Project Thesis Proposals following completion of Project Methodology Workshop and prior to beginning the writing of the Project Thesis.

Once the Project Thesis Proposal is approved, including IRB approval, the student may begin writing. The Faculty Supervisor will provide primary feedback to chapters submitted in the writing stage, though it is recommended the student share written work with his/her Ministry Coach/ Preaching Consultant/Spiritual Guide to solicit reactions. Formal Faculty Supervision for Thesis Writing is available for three units during which the student must be registered for Project Thesis Writing.

Style and Form

Each proposal should follow BOTH the McAfee Style Guide and Mercer University Theses & Dissertation Guidelines. Where there are differences, follow the Mercer University guidelines.

The proposal should include:

Cover Page

Table of Contents of the anticipated final document. The committee prefers the inclusion of chapter titles and headings that communicate the content of the chapter. General titles such as “Biblical Foundations for the Project” are less preferable than “The Parables as a Format for Effective Preaching.”

Content as outlined in the “D.Min. Project Thesis Proposal” guide.

An Informed Consent Form.

Copies of ALL instruments to be used such as surveys, interview schedules, etc., with each identified as an Appendix.

Bibliography of all work anticipated for inclusion in the Project Thesis. Do not separate the bibliography into sections that divide the final thesis from works consulted for the proposal.

The D.Min. Committee prefers succinctly written and clearly stated proposals that do not exceed 15 double-spaced pages of descriptive text plus Table of Contents, Appendixes, and Bibliography.

You must have e-mail confirmation of approval of the proposal by your Faculty Supervisor.

Submit Word document by email to the Doctor of Ministry office.

One copy of the application for IRB approval of the project, and a copy of the certification of completion of the online instructions for human subject research must accompany the proposal. After the proposal is approved by the D.Min. Committee, IRB approval of the project may be sought.

The D.Min. Committee meets monthly August-May. You must submit your materials no later than 10 calendar days prior to the meeting of the committee at which you wish to have it reviewed. Dates of committee meetings are available from the D. Min. office. You may expect a copy of your proposal with notes and a cover letter of the action of the committee in the mail within a week of the committee’s meeting where action is taken.

The committee may act in three ways:

Approval

Approval with changes

Changes required with re-submission

If the proposal is approved, the candidate may proceed to secure IRB approval, implement the proposed ministry, and begin writing the Project Thesis. Approval with changes means that the student must make the changes in the proposal, then secure IRB approval, and continue to complete the Project Thesis. If changes required with re-submission are noted, the student must resubmit the proposal and may not proceed until a second reading by the committee. If, for any reason the student is denied approval the second time, the student must retake the Project Thesis Workshops and re-submit a new proposal. Denial of a second re-submission results in termination from the program.

Guidelines for Project Thesis Chapters

Generally, the project thesis should flow from the first chapter to the conclusion of the work (the so-called “golden thread”). Make sure that each chapter builds on the previous chapter and that the theme of the work continues in each chapter. Below are suggested components. It is the responsibility of the student to outline each chapter and to decide how many chapters are needed – usually either four or five.

Chapter One introduces the project thesis. It should provide background on your topic, clarify all definitions used in the project, and list limitations and assumptions related to the project. The purpose of the ministry project should be clear. State briefly the goals of the project, as well as the methodology and research methods the study anticipates. You will expand on these later (about 8-10 pages). Chapter One must include the proposed title, an introduction/background for the problem, the statement of the problem, purpose, research questions/hypotheses, significance of the study, procedures (type of study, data collection methods, etc.), limitations, and definition of terms. A “mock” version of this chapter will be created in Project Thesis Workshop I.

Chapter Two addresses the biblical, theological, and historical foundations of the work (e.g., what does the Bible and theological and historical traditions have to say about the subject under discussion). Chapter Two will also demonstrate an understanding and knowledge of any related literature (about 16-20 pages). A preliminary version of this chapter is created in Ministry Coaching III.

Chapter Three sets forth your analysis of context you are studying and describes your methodology. You should describe in detail both the community and the ministry setting (description of the congregation/organization), analyze the role(s) for which you are responsible, and identify the most significant challenges needing attention within the ministry setting. Sociological data (e.g. demographics) are included in this section and your research instruments are explained. You will also detail how you plan to undertake the research, including the type of study (qualitative or quantitative), the research design (case study, mixed method, correlation, etc.), the IRB process, method(s) for data collection, the population and sample under study, and how the data will be analyzed (about 15-20 pages). A preliminary version of this chapter is created in Ministry Coaching II.

Chapter Four examines your research and tests your thesis. Detail any changes to your planned research process and explain the effect of those changes. Report and analyze the data. Interpret and clarify the impact on your thesis. Be clear about your findings, including the strengths and weaknesses of your methodology (about 20 pages).

Chapter Five consists of the conclusions you draw from your research. It is also the chapter where you share with the reader new directions of study or visions, and where you lay out in detail new programs or show the success of your findings. It is also where you show the impact of your study on your ministry and, possibly on the ministry of others. All implications of the work are made clear (about 10 - 15 pages).

Appendices (survey instruments, graphs, charts, forms, letters).

Bibliography

Yearly deadlines for submission of theses and dissertations to the chief academic officer of the university are November 1, April 1, and July 1. Please review the Mercer University website of the Provost's office for information about guidelines, templates, and samples.

Writing Style

Because written work in a doctoral program must be of the highest standard, the judicial use of the following is recommended:

1. A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses and Dissertations, eighth edition, by Kate L. Turabian. All written work should be in conformity with this manual, unless decided otherwise with an instructor.
2. The Elements of Style, by William Strunk and E. B. White.
3. The SBL Handbook published by the Society of Biblical Literature.
4. The McAfee Style Guide located on the School of Theology website at <http://theology.mercer.edu/current/>
5. The Mercer University Requirements and Guidelines for the Preparation of Theses and Dissertations available at <http://provost.mercer.edu/resources/theses/theses.cfm>

Any candidate who needs help in writing should pursue help from a professional or enroll in a class, if necessary, before attempting to enter the program. At the doctoral level, no allowances will be made for poor writing skills.

MERCER UNIVERSITY STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT

Changes may be made to the Student Code of Conduct during the school year. The most up-to-date and complete version can be found in the University Student Handbook at www.mercer.edu/provost/handbooks

COMMUNITY OF RESPECT

Mercer University strives to be a Community of Respect where everyone is held in mutual high regard. Because every human being is created in the image of God, each person deserves to be treated with respect and civility. Standards of conduct are based on the values of mutual respect:

Respect for Academic Integrity

We value a community that encourages an academic atmosphere. We believe that honesty is important to learning.

Respect for Other Persons

We value the worth of every individual in the community and we respect the dignity of each member in the community. We take responsibility for the consideration of the rights of others.

Respect for the University Community

We value showing respect for the rights and property of others. We take responsibility to act to maintain University property.

Respect for Community Authority

We acknowledge and value our privileges and rights as members of the University community. We take responsibility for acting to uphold community standards.

These values are codified into the following Student Code of Conduct, which includes a general overview of the process, a listing of unacceptable student conduct, possible sanctions, and other key information. This Student Code of Conduct applies to all students on all campuses, including online programs, and supersedes any student conduct policies and procedures previously used by colleges or programs. Program-specific regulations and policies (including professional standards) may apply to students beyond those outlined here and may be found in supplemental handbooks. Nothing in this policy prohibits these academic programs from pursuing additional review and action of professional standards as appropriate to their professions. Students are expected to be aware of and conduct themselves in a manner that is in compliance with all applicable policies found in the University Student Handbook and related campus supplements. Academic violations are handled through a separate process found in the academic Honor Code.

FORMULATION OF REGULATIONS & CODE OF CONDUCT

Any student, faculty member, or administrator may initiate any revision of, or addition to, the University standards of conduct. Recommendations should be submitted to the senior student affairs officer on their campus who will evaluate and forward the recommendation to the Vice President for Student Affairs (Macon). The Vice President for Student Affairs, in consultation with appropriate parties, shall ensure discussion of the proposed change. When all parties have had an opportunity to comment on the proposal, it will be presented to the Provost and General Counsel.

RIGHTS OF STUDENTS

Community of Respect ensures certain rights of its members. The University values the following student's rights:

Free inquiry, expression, and assembly as long as conducted in a manner that does not infringe upon the rights of others.

Freedom from unreasonable invasion of the privacy of the individual's person, residence, papers, personal effects, and University records.

Right to due process and equal protection under the University's judicial system.

Freedom to pursue educational goals; the right to free exchange of ideas, thoughts, and viewpoints.

Freedom of association for students who meet the University's standards for participation in co-curricular and extracurricular activities.

GENERAL POLICY

Mercer University is dedicated to the advancement of knowledge and learning and to the development of ethically responsible persons. University students are expected to uphold appropriate standards of behavior and to respect the rights and privileges of others. The University invites students to participate in the formulation of behavioral policies and to share in the responsibility for judicial decisions. These standards and procedures have been established to protect the University's educational purpose, to foster a sense of responsibility to the community, to provide for orderly conduct of its activities, to protect the members of the University from disrespect, and to safeguard the interest of the University community. Student conduct is expected to be lawful and in accordance with all federal, state, and local laws, and University regulations.

In keeping with Mercer University's values, sanctions imposed on students found to be in violation of the Student Code of Conduct are designed to promote the University's educational mission, maintain community standards, and promote individual civility and positive growth.

Sanctions are also intended to maintain the safety of the University environment and the integrity of the University community. The processes for adjudicating violations of federal, state and local laws and violations of the Student Code of Conduct are separate and may be pursued independently of one another. The University distinguishes its responsibilities for student conduct from the control functions of the wider community. The conduct of students both on campus and in the wider community is ordinarily of University concern when (a) the conduct interferes with the University's responsibility for ensuring members of the University full and equal opportunity to obtain their educational objectives, (b) the conduct interferes with the University's responsibility to protect the health, safety and general welfare of persons in the University community, or (c) the conduct negatively impacts the University's image and/or academic integrity. The University is not required to postpone disciplinary proceedings pending the outcome of any criminal proceeding.

The Student Code of Conduct applies to all University students in settings, which includes, but is not limited to, study abroad, international travel, online, and off-campus educational opportunities. The Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee) may modify non-substantive procedures in the effort to adjudicate violations.

Cases involving student organizations are adjudicated through this process as well. Student organizations will be held responsible for the behavior of their members, alumni, or guests, when their actions evolve from or are in any way related to their association with activities of the organization on or off campus. Student organizations may be charged and adjudicated in addition to any charges levied against the individual members. Student organizations that condone or encourage behavior that violates University or state regulations may be held responsible for such violations.

Authority for student discipline ultimately rests with the University President. For cases involving non-academic conduct violations, the President delegates this authority to the Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee), who in turn delegates it to the following designees to oversee, review, and pursue violations of the Student Code of Conduct.

Location	Primary Designee(s)
Macon Campus (including Law, Medicine (Columbus and Savannah), and the Macon Center):	Associate Dean of Students, Macon Office of Judicial Education, Macon Residence Life, Macon
Atlanta Campus (including all Atlanta graduate programs and Douglas, Henry, and Newnan Centers):	Dean of Students, Atlanta Assistant Dean of Students, Atlanta Residence Life, Atlanta

Students enrolled in online courses will be adjudicated in Macon or Atlanta as determined by the educational program in which they are enrolled. Should conflicts arise, that location will be determined by the Vice President for Student Affairs. Modifications to procedures to adapt to the physical location of the student may be implemented as long as the student is notified of the charges against them and provided with an opportunity to respond to the charges.

The Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee) has the authority to notify the person listed as the student's emergency contact (or other appropriate person) in cases of emergency or life-threatening incidents.

The Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee) may order any student or organization to cease and desist from any activity adjudged to be disruptive to the University. If the student or organization fails to cease and desist from such activity, the Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee) may immediately suspend the student or organization pending a judicial hearing.

RESPONSIBLE ACTION GUIDELINES

The health and safety of students under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs should always supersede concerns related to conduct violations and/or subsequent University action. The University urges all students to recognize that violations of the law and University policy have consequences, but that these possible consequences should never outweigh or override the decision for providing proper care for the health and wellbeing of a fellow student in crisis.

In a health crisis situation involving alcohol and/or drugs, students are expected to notify appropriate staff to evaluate the situation immediately. Amnesty for minor violations of the student code of conduct will be considered in cases where a student is acting in good faith to rectify a situation, or when the situation involves a more egregious infraction that warrants reporting (for example, sexual misconduct and relationship violence). Amnesty may mean waiving formal judicial action, or imposing less harsh sanctions, and is at the discretion of the Vice President for Student Affairs, Dean of Students or designee.

NON-ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT PROCESS

Procedure for Reporting Violations

All students and student organizations are expected to adhere to the standards of the Community of Respect. In affirmation to these standards, every student subscribes to the following pledge:

"Having been accepted as a member of the Community of Respect of Mercer University, I pledge myself: to hold each person in high mutual regard; to uphold, respect, and defend the rights of every individual in the community; and to respect the community as a whole. I further pledge that I will not allow to go unreported any violation of the standards of our community."

Each student is responsible for reporting any and all infractions of the standards valued by the Community of Respect. All students accept this responsibility when they enroll. If a student sees, knows, or hears of a violation, he/she is responsible for reporting the suspected violation to Mercer Police, the Vice President of Student Affairs, or an appropriate faculty/staff member of Mercer University.

Organizations are expected to investigate and self-report any violations of the Student Code of Conduct. Please refer to the Campus Life web page at <http://studentaffairs.mercer.edu/campuslife/studentorgs.cfm>.

Procedures for Filing Charges

This process for review is initiated by either (1) the filing of a police report with Mercer University Police Department (or other law enforcement agency), (2) providing a signed written statement directly to the Vice President of Student Affairs (or designee), or (3) by filing an incident report or written statement with the Office of Housing and Residence Life. This information will then be reviewed by the designated authority (listed above) to determine the most appropriate action to be taken. This may result in conducting further investigation into the incident, resolving the conflict in an informal manner, referring the case to Housing, or initiating charges in accordance with the procedures contained in this code. Charges should be filed within ten (10) working days after receipt of all available information regarding the complaint. Charges cannot be filed that exceed one (1) year after the discovery of the incident.

In compliance with Title IX and other related federal mandates, cases involving Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence (sexual harassment, sexual assault, sexual exploitation, stalking, dating violence, and domestic violence) may require and involve additional investigatory, procedural, and adjudication standards that supersede any listed here. Please refer to the procedures outlined in the Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence Policy for complete information on these procedures. Should any policy or procedural guidelines conflict between these two policies, the Vice President for Student Affairs in consultation with the Title IX Coordinator is the final arbiter of procedural decisions.

Charges

When a determination to charge is made, the designated office (primary designee) shall notify the student in writing of the charge(s) and the allegation(s) on which the charge(s) are based. This notice shall inform the student that he or she has five (5) regular business days in which to contact the designated office outlined in their charge letter to schedule an informational session, and to select the type of hearing forum in which to adjudicate the violation (unless pre-selected by the University). The informational session is a courtesy to students. If a student does not contact the University during this time, the University shall make a determination regarding the choice of hearing and will proceed with adjudication.

HEARING BOARD OPTIONS

The charged student or organization may have charges heard by a University Hearing Board or by a designated University Administrator selected and trained by the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students in Macon or Atlanta. The Hearing Board or Administrator will review the case and make a recommendation to the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students on the Macon and/or Atlanta (depending on primary location of the academic program related to the charged student) with regard to responsibility and sanctioning. In electing one hearing forum, the student waives the right to the other. The University retains the right to pre-select the hearing forum at any point in the process. University Hearing Boards consist of two faculty/staff and one student trained in university judicial proceedings. However, in cases involving especially serious charges that potentially could result in expulsion or suspension, the University may in its discretion require the charges to be heard at a specific campus location, and by a University panel that includes two faculty/staff, one student, and at least one representative from outside the University, to be selected by the University, with experience in contested adversarial hearings.

When two or more individual cases stem from the same incident, the same hearing body shall hear all cases, when possible. Procedural modifications are permitted when incidents involve more than one individual or corresponding organizational charges. In such cases, the University may either pre-select the hearing body or consult with the students involved before making the determination. This hearing body will hear individual cases separately. In cases involving multiple students or organizations charged from the same incident, information obtained at one hearing may be used at another hearing provided that the charged student or organization involved has the opportunity to review and to respond to any information that will be used against them, when possible.

For cases handled by the University's Office of Judicial Education in Macon, a board consisting of all students is an additional option for adjudicating student and organizational cases. This Student Hearing Board primarily adjudicates organizational violations and minor student violations as determined by the Associate Dean of Students.

Decisions of all hearing bodies (University Hearing Boards and University Administrator) are recommendations to the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students on the corresponding Macon and Atlanta campus, who in the interest of fairness, clarity, or consistency may choose to accept or modify the recommendations as necessary or refer a case back to the hearing body for further review. The Associate/Assistant Dean of Students may consult with appropriate staff or the academic Dean of a particular academic program before accepting or modifying the recommendation of a student in that program.

RIGHTS OF THE CHARGED STUDENTS

Notice. Students or organizations charged with violations of the Student Code of Conduct will be provided notice via their official university e-mail address of the charge(s) against them and the allegations upon which the charge is based.

Hearing. Students or organizations shall be entitled to a prompt hearing. Students will be given an opportunity to present information, including witnesses during a fair and impartial hearing. The student may inspect all documentary evidence presented at the hearing, may hear and question all available adverse witnesses testifying at the hearing, and may present evidence and call witnesses. If a called witness does not appear, the hearing body may consider their written or taped statements. However, the statement shall be weighted accordingly by the hearing body as the charged student has no opportunity to cross examine the witness making the written or recorded statement. Student questioning of witnesses may be modified in cases involving violations of the Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence Policy (see next section). Witnesses for the hearing will be required to wait outside of the hearing until their point of participation. The University may require any student or employee with information relevant to the charges to attend the hearing and present that information to the hearing panel for consideration.

In compliance with Title IX and related federal mandates, additional procedural rights for student complainants and respondents involving violations of the Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence Policy apply and are outlined below.

RIGHTS FOR CASES INVOLVING SEXUAL MISCONDUCT AND RELATIONSHIP VIOLENCE (SUPPLEMENTAL)

When complaints are resolved through the University student judicial process related to sexual harassment, sexual assault, sexual exploitation, stalking, dating violation and domestic violence, the following rights will apply to both the complainant and to the respondent:

To be accompanied by an advisor or person of support of their choice. (See additional advisement information in the “Conduct Hearing Guidelines” in the Student Code of Conduct).

To have an equal opportunity to present witnesses and evidence, as well as to speak on one’s behalf.

To be made aware that responsibility for charges is determined using the “preponderance of the evidence” standard.

To have similar and timely access to information. All information is subject to FERPA protection and stipulations.

To submit questions to the hearing body to consider posing to the complainant, respondent, and/or witnesses.

For the complainant to be able to request alternative methods of inquiry (e.g. written questions or video conferencing) if needed when presenting testimony.

To have any non-relevant sexual history exempt from review. Decisions regarding relevancy issues will be determined by the hearing body.

To be notified in writing regarding the outcome of the complaint at every step of the process (i.e. Initial hearing and any appeals). The University will not impose any "non-disclosure requirement" on either party as a condition for sharing this information.

To have the right to appeal the outcome as outlined in the appeal process. Both the complainant and respondent are permitted one appeal.

To be free from harassment and/or retaliation during the process. This includes harassment and retaliation through third parties.

To submit an impact statement to be considered by the hearing body before the sanctioning phase to be used if the Respondent is found responsible.

CONDUCT HEARING GUIDELINES

All hearings are governed by the following guidelines. Procedures may be modified to expedite the proceeding as long as they do not jeopardize the charged student’s fundamental rights or the fairness of the hearing.

Burden of Proof. The burden of proof rests with the University. The standard of proof shall be the “preponderance of the evidence.” This standard means that the evidence, taken as a whole, supports that it is more likely than not that the violation occurred.

Pre-hearing informational session. To assist the student in preparing for the hearing, a pre-hearing informational session will be available for the student. The informational session is a courtesy to students and not a requirement. This informational session will discuss the hearing procedures, inform the student of their rights and responsibilities, and allow the student the opportunity to review the available written information that will be presented at the hearing by the University. The student and his or her advisor shall have the opportunity to inspect the information at least three (3) regular business days in advance of the hearing whenever possible. Upon notification of the student’s choice for a hearing body, the university shall schedule a hearing and notify the student in writing of the date, time, and location of the hearing at least three (3) regular business days in advance. A student may choose to waive, in writing, the three (3) regular business day notice and proceed with a hearing.

Decisions. Decisions of “responsible” or “not responsible” on the charge(s) shall be based solely on the evidence presented at the hearing. When multiple students are charged with the same violation and it is determined that an individual identified was not responsible for that specific violation, but was present and/or had knowledge that the violation was occurring, the hearing board/officer has the authority to find that student responsible for the lesser charge of “failure to report” without recharging the student and having a separate hearing. Information can be conveyed from one hearing to the other in cases where multiple students are charged.

Confidentiality. All hearings shall be closed and confidential unless specifically requested otherwise by the charged student in writing. This request must be received three regular business days in advance of the hearing and cannot impede the university’s ability to comply with state and federal laws regarding confidential information. In cases involving violations of the Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence Policy and/or with competing interest, the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students will make the final determination regarding open and closed hearings in consultation with Vice President for Student Affairs and the Title IX Coordinator.

Failure to Appear. If the charged student fails to appear at the hearing, the hearing may proceed in the student’s absence and a decision rendered provided that the student has been properly notified of the hearing.

Official Record. An official record of the hearing shall be made by the presiding hearing officer for internal University use only. The record of the hearing may exist in written or audible form. No transcript is made. Students may request to inspect their record of testimony and case file after the hearing is closed. Records will be redacted to protect other students’ FERPA rights. Written records are kept on file for 7 years.

Deliberations. Deliberations are closed and shall include only those members involved in the decision-making process.

Notice of Decision. A written decision shall be available to the student or organization within seven (7) regular business days following the hearing. This time may be extended in cases in which additional time is necessary for deliberations. If additional time is necessary, the charged student or organization shall be notified. The decision letter shall contain a decision on each charge, the finding of fact and any recommended sanctions (if applicable).

Hold on Student’s Records. The university may place a hold on the transcripts and/or registration of any student who fails to respond to a judicial notice or to ensure resolution of the case prior to transfer or graduation. All pending judicial matters must be resolved prior to a student’s graduation, transfer from, or continued education at Mercer University.

Withholding Degree —The University may withhold awarding a degree otherwise earned until the completion of the process set forth in the Student Conduct Code, including the completion of all sanctions, if any.

Disabilities. Any student with a documented disability may request that reasonable accommodations be provided during the judicial process. This request must be made at least three (3) regular business days in advance of the hearing, and the accommodations must be approved by the Office of ACCESS and Accommodation and the Associate Dean of Students.

Advisement. Students and organizations are permitted to bring one advisor of their choice to the hearing. The advisor shall serve as a consultant, and cannot speak on behalf of the student or organization during the proceedings. Students are required to address the hearing body in person on their own behalf. Consultation must take place in a manner that does not disrupt the proceedings. The advisor shall not serve as a witness or be charged in the case. Students must notify the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students on the applicable campus at least five class days prior to the hearing if they will be bringing an attorney as an advisor.

Testimony. Students shall not be forced to present self-incriminating testimony. Testimony that is provided during a hearing can be used in another hearing if those details are relevant to clarifying details in those proceedings and only if the cases are connected to the same incident.

VIOLATIONS OF THE VALUES OF THE COMMUNITY OF RESPECT

Violation of any of the following, or the aiding, abetting, condoning, or attempting to commit these offenses by a student constitutes an offense that will result in disciplinary action. Examples include: invasion of sexual privacy; prostituting another individual; non-consensual observation, either by direct observation or video or audio-taping of sexual activity; engaging in voyeurism; knowingly transmitting an STI (Sexually Transmitted Infection) or HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) to another; exposing one's genitals in non-consensual circumstances; or inducing another to expose his or her genitals

Stalking Engaging in a course/pattern of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for her, his, or others' safety, or to suffer substantial emotional distress. Such conduct includes two or more acts by which the stalker directly, or indirectly, or through third parties follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates about a person or interferes with his or her property

Dating Violence A violent act committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the complainant. The existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on the complainant's statement and with consideration of the following factors: the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship

Domestic Violence A pattern of abusive behavior that is used by an intimate partner to gain or maintain power and control over the other intimate partner, which includes felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim. An "intimate partner" is defined as a current or former spouse of the complainant, a person with whom the complainant shares a child in common, or a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the complainant as a spouse. It also includes any person covered under the current domestic or family violence laws applicable to the jurisdiction of the infraction. Domestic violence can be physical, sexual, emotional, economic, or psychological actions or threats of actions that influence another person

It also includes using profane or abusive language—sometimes called “fighting words”—that is likely to provoke an immediate violent reaction, in addition to disturbing the peace whether on or off campus. Disturbing or disrupting the peace includes behavior that interrupts an event or any action determined to infringe upon the privacy, rights, privileges, health or safety of students, faculty, staff, or organizations, whether on or off campus

Failure to Report Being present or having knowledge that a violation has occurred and failing to report the incident. [The University retains the right to find a student responsible for this charge in lieu of another if the hearing body determines that the student(s) involvement was sufficiently passive and/or warrants consideration for this lesser charge for any reason. In such cases, the University is not required to recharge the student or rehear the case to find the student responsible for this charge.]

Computer Misuse/Unauthorized access Any misuse of or unauthorized access to a computer, computer system, network, software or data; or the unauthorized alteration, copying or distribution of software or data.

Hazing. Any act which endangers the mental or physical health or safety of a student, or which destroys or removes public or private property, for the purpose of initiation, admission into, affiliation with, or as a condition for continued membership in, a group or organization. Specific examples of hazing include, but are not limited:

- Acts that embarrass, harass, or ridicule an individual
- Acts that create excessive fatigue
- Physical or psychological shocks
- Morally degrading or humiliating games or activities

SANCTIONS

The determination of sanctions is made in light of the unique facts and circumstances surrounding each individual case and the previous conduct history of the student. The Students found responsible of violations(s) of the Student Code of Conduct will be subject to one or more of the following sanctions:

Warning: Formal written notice to the student and official recognition that a violation has occurred.

Counseling Assessment: A recommendation to be evaluated by psychological services to help the student deal more effectively with his/her conduct issue.

Community Service: Performance of a preapproved service location for a prescribed number of hours to the local or university community.

Creative/Educational Sanctions: Attendance at educational programs, interviews with appropriate officials, planning and implementing educational programs, research papers and other educational activities related to the violation.

Restriction: The withdrawal of specified privilege(s) for a definite period of time. Restrictions may include, but are not limited to requirements such as: not entering certain areas of housing or the campus, not contacting a certain individual or group, or not operating a motor vehicle on campus.

Fines: Not to exceed $150 per individual or $150 per individual member of an organization.

Restitution: A payment of financial injury in cases involving theft, destruction of property or deception.

Probation: A period of time during which any further violations of the Student Code of Conduct may impact or jeopardize the student's status in a specific manner. The four types of probation that can be imposed are as follows:

Conduct Probation. A specified period of time in which any future violations of the Student Code of Conduct can result in increased sanctions being imposed that exceed those of a student who is not on conduct probation.

Housing Probation. A specified period of time in which any future violations of the Student Code of Conduct will result in the termination of housing privileges and access to any university owned housing facilities.

Social Probation. Notice to an organization or student that all or a portion of social functions must cease for a designated period of time.

University Probation. A specified period of time during which any further violation of the Student Code of Conduct puts the student's or organization's status with the university in jeopardy. Additional violations of the Student Code of Conduct that occur during this period of probation may result in suspension or dismissal. Students may be restricted from holding office in any student organization. Students cannot represent the university in any official capacity during the term of university probation. Continued enrollment depends on the maintenance of satisfactory conduct during the period of probation.

Forced Change of Residence. The temporary or permanent relocation of a student within housing.

Eviction from University Housing. Permanent removal from the housing system.

Suspension. The termination of the student's attendance or an organization's representation at the university for an indefinite or specified period of time. A suspension means that students may not be on University property or that an organization is prohibited from being recognized at any time without prior approval from the Vice President for Student Affairs or designee. Stipulations may be applied to either the student or organization as a condition for ending the suspension.

Expulsion. The permanent separation of the student from the University.

Deferred Degree. The holding of an academic degree for a specified period of time with or without conditions.

APPEALS PROCEDURE

For cases involving non-academic appeals, a student may appeal the original decision to the Vice President for Student Affairs within three (3) working days after receipt of the written decision (additional time may be requested for extenuating circumstances). The Vice President may choose to hear the appeal or designate an appropriate staff member from the academic program or location in which the student is enrolled to review the appeal and make a recommendation. No person may hear or decide an appeal if he or she participated in the hearing process. The appeal shall consist of a review of the prior proceedings; it shall not be another hearing. The student or organization shall receive a written decision regarding the appeal.

Grounds for appealing a decision are:

An error in procedural due process, which prejudiced the accused to the extent that the student or organization was denied a fundamentally fair hearing as a result of the error. Procedural flaws alone are not grounds for an appeal. Significant procedural errors that may have affected the verdict or sanction will be considered.

The emergence of new evidence that could not have been previously discovered and that, had it been represented at the initial hearing, would have substantially affected the original decision of the hearing body.

The imposition of sanctions that are disproportionate to the offense.

Student status. The student's status on campus will remain unchanged pending the final decision and appeals process, except in cases involving interim suspensions (see Interim Suspension). The Vice President shall have the authority to act de novo to determine the issues of both responsibility and sanction(s). The decision of the Vice President for Student Affairs is final.

INTERIM SUSPENSION OF A STUDENT OR ORGANIZATION

In certain circumstances involving a student or organizations actions that may affect the safety, health, or general welfare of the student or the university community, the Vice President for Students Affairs, or the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students, or Student Affairs designee on each campus may impose an interim suspension prior to the student or organizations conduct hearing. The Vice President of Student Affairs, the Associate/Assistant Dean of Students, Student Affairs designee on each campus, and the Director of Housing and Residence Life have the authority to cancel a student's university housing contract under a separate process.

An interim suspension means that a student cannot be on university property, cannot attend classes, and cannot use university facilities unless otherwise stipulated. An interim suspension requires that the student or organization be notified in writing by the university. For organizations it means immediate suspension of all or some of the activities associated with the organization as determined by the university.

The student or organization has the right to request a hearing on the interim suspension with the Vice President for Student Affairs. If requested, the hearing will be conducted within three (3) regular business days from the receipt of the student's written request by the Vice President for Student Affairs or designee. The scope of this hearing is solely on whether the interim suspension should continue until a hearing is conducted on the facts of the case. Disciplinary charges will be filed either when the interim suspension is imposed or as soon as possible thereafter.

For cases in which a student is placed on interim suspension, but subsequently found not responsible for all violations, the university will take the following steps: (1) correct any record of the change in enrollment status in the student's permanent records and reports in a manner compliant with state and federal laws; and (2) refund to the student a pro rata portion of any fees, charges for tuition, or other university specific fees and charges, as appropriate due to the temporary change in enrollment status.

NON-ACADEMIC CONDUCT RECORDS

The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs in Macon and Dean of Students in Atlanta are the official custodian of all records involving non-academic misconduct. Student files involving cases that do not result in suspensions or expulsions shall be expunged seven (7) years after a decision is reached on a charge. Cases that result in suspensions or expulsions will be kept permanently. Statistical data and database information may be kept permanently at the university.

Students have the right to view their files. Students found “not responsible” or cases in which charges are dropped are considered not to have a judicial record.

PARENTAL NOTIFICATION POLICY

Mercer University, like many other colleges and universities, is concerned about the health and safety of its students specifically where there is use and abuse of drugs and alcohol. Under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), institutions are permitted to release any and all information to parents, without the consent of the student, “if the student is a dependent for tax purposes under the IRS rules.” FERPA allows colleges and universities to disclose information to parents if there is a health or safety emergency involving their student as well as to disclose information if the student is under the age of 21 and “has violated any law or policy concerning the use or possession of alcohol or a controlled substance.” The Vice President for Student Affairs or designee will be the responsible University official to contact the parent or guardian. Students whose parents are divorced or separated have the option of designating the parent to be contacted. The Vice President for Students Affairs or designee may use discretion regarding parental notification in incidents where it is determined that extenuating circumstances exist that would directly and conclusively impact the situation negatively. Alternative guardian contact determinations will be made by the Vice President for Student Affairs or designee. The process of adjudicating any violations will be handled in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct.

Mercer University has opted to contact parents and/or legal guardians under the following conditions:

Mercer students, under the age of 21, found responsible for first time minor offenses involving alcohol in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct will be dealt with directly, without notification of their parents. “Minor offenses” are defined as non-life-threatening, non-threatening to the community, and not involving any other significant violations of the law or the Student Code of Conduct.

Enrolled students, under the age of 21, found responsible for two or more offenses involving alcohol will result in parental notification.

Enrolled students, under the age of 21, found responsible for offenses involving drugs will result in parental notification.

Incidents related to alcohol and/or drugs that are determined to be life threatening to the student, threatening to the community, or involving other significant violations of the law or the Student Code of Conduct may result in parental notification regardless of the number of offenses. An incident in which a student is transported to the hospital as a result of alcohol and/or drugs may also be determined to constitute a threat or disruption to the campus community depending on the circumstances.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Mercer University strives to be a Community of Respect that includes respect for academic integrity. Students operate under an honor system and will exhibit the values of honesty, trustworthiness, and fairness regarding all academic matters. Students, faculty, and staff are expected to report any violations in the forms of, but not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, and academic dishonesty to the honor council appropriate for their campus and program.

Procedures related to Honor Systems and Academic Integrity are outlined in the specific handbooks for each campus and can be found on the Provost website at <http://provost.mercer.edu/handbooks>.

Mercer University is dedicated to the advancement of knowledge and learning and to the development of ethically responsible persons. The University is an academic community that believes honesty is essential to learning. Academic integrity at Mercer is advanced through the Honor System. The Honor System is maintained through various Honor Codes within colleges and schools of the University.

Participation in the Honor System is not optional. By the act of entering Mercer University, each student consents to Mercer's Honor System and thereby agrees to be governed by its rules. Students are expected to read and familiarize themselves fully with the Honor Code and to cooperate completely with the System.

Students at the School of Theology are required to abide by both the University Honor Code located online at <http://provost.mercer.edu/handbooks/integrity.cfm> and the McAfee School of Theology Honor Code located below.

CHEATING AND PLAGIARISM

Mercer University's Graduate Student Honor Code addresses the issues of cheating and plagiarism. It defines cheating as "the taking of credit for work which has been done by another person." Plagiarism is "the use of ideas, facts, phrases, or additional material such as maps and charts from any source without giving proper credit for such material." Examples include, but are not limited to the following:

- Using information from any source, including internet sources, without giving proper acknowledgement to the original author of the material;
- Submitting the same, or nearly the same, paper for academic credit in two classes without the consent and approval of both instructors;
- Submitting another student's work as one's own or allowing one's work to be submitted by another student;
- Turning in late assignments without clearly indicating that the work is submitted late;
- Giving or fabricating false citations and references in any material submitted for grading.

I will ensure that all work is my own, and I will properly give credit where credit is due.

I will respect and honor all property, persons and facilities.

I will honestly report my participation in all classroom activities and student requirements.

I will uphold the stipulations and underlying values of the honor code.

I will ensure that all work is my own, and I will properly give credit where credit is due.

Any material without proper citation is assumed to be the author's original work.

Using information from any source without giving proper acknowledgment to the original author of the material;

Submitting the same, or nearly the same, paper for academic credit in two classes without the consent of both professors;
Submitting another student's work as one's own or allowing one's work to be submitted by another student;
Turning in assignments after the deadline without clearly indicating that the work is submitted late;
Giving or fabricating false citations and references in any material submitted for grading.

I will refrain from cheating.

Cheating includes, but is not limited to:

Attempting to give or receive unauthorized assistance during an examination;
Using testing materials from past testing periods as a study guide unless authorized by the professor;
Discussing examination contents with any other student while taking an examination or test;
Offering or receiving assistance to/from another student during an examination or test;

Obtaining or providing specific information regarding an examination before the exam is administered without the professor's permission;

Failing to indicate clearly to the instructor that my written work was submitted after the announced deadline for such submissions;
I will respect and honor all property, persons and facilities.

Students, faculty, and staff engaging in the activities below will be considered in violation of the honor code. This includes, but is not limited to:

Disrupting or interfering with the orderly conduct or operation of any university activity, failing to obey the lawful instruction of the person in charge of such activity, or preventing others from freely engaging in the activity;
Disrupting or interfering with any university facility, failing to obey the lawful instruction of any person in charge of such a facility, or preventing others from freely using the facility;

Filing a frivolous complaint (one without basis in fact) of an Honor Code violation with the intent to harass another student;

Attempting to intimidate or deter complainants, witnesses, or other participants in an Honor Code investigation or proceeding;

Preventing the discovery of prohibited conduct.

I will honestly report my participation in all classroom activities and student requirements.

It will be breaking the honor code if at any time a student engages in falsifying or misleading conduct in the areas of class attendance and participation. This would include, but is not limited to, the following:

Signing the roll on behalf of another person who is not present;

Having another person sign a roll for you when you are not present;

Answering a roll call on behalf of someone not present;

Having someone answer a roll call on your behalf when you are not present;

Signing the roll and then departing before the end of class;

Holding on to a roll call sheet so late arriving students may sign it;

Misrepresenting your presence or participation in outside class requirements by:

Saying you were present when you were not;

Turning in material from an activity of which you were not a part;

Using previous experiences to fulfill the requirements of a current assignment, unless permission by the professor has been granted;

Misrepresenting the presence or participation of another student in outside class requirements by:

Claiming their presence when they were absent;

Gathering material for them to turn in for credit, unless permission by the professor has been granted.

I will uphold the stipulations and underlying values of the honor code.

The reliability of the honor code is dependent on the student's full cooperation in adhering to the principles of integrity therein as well as reporting any infraction that one witnesses. The student assumes such a responsibility upon entering the School of Theology. Failure to report a violation either directly or indirectly is a failure to adhere to the code entirely.

As a member of the School of Theology student body and as one preparing for Christian ministry students will conduct their lives with honesty, integrity, and character. A student shall be held in violation of said behavioral expectations only when the student's conduct does not constitute an infringement of any specific stipulation of the honor code.

PROCESS AND PENALTIES

If a student infringes on the code or witnesses another student or party infringing upon the honor code, he or she must immediately report the infringement to the professor concerned and/or to the Associate Dean. Students will not inaccurately or falsely report their activities concerning the above regulations when questioned by a professor, Associate Dean, or Dean.

At the School of Theology, all faculty and adjunct instructors must report any violation of the honor code to the Associate Dean for Masters Degree Programs.

Any School of Theology student accused of a violation of the Honor Code will be notified in writing by the Associate Dean. If convicted, on the first offense, students will receive a "0" on the assignment and must meet with the Associate Dean to discuss the violation of the Honor Code. A subsequent offense, in any class, will result in an “F” in the course(s) and immediate expulsion from the School of Theology. Expulsion is the permanent removal of student status. Additionally, any student receiving scholarship funds convicted of an Honor Code violation will automatically forfeit his/her scholarship for the duration of their degree program. For more on this subject, please see the Graduate Honor System at <http://provost.mercer.edu/handbooks/integrity.cfm>.

In the event of a conviction, the accused may request the Dean to review a finding of guilt and/or the propriety of the penalty. The request must be made in writing within four school days and should enumerate the grounds on which the appeal is based. The Dean will review the request for an appeal to determine whether there are sufficient grounds to warrant reconsideration. If the Dean determines that reconsideration of the conviction or penalty is appropriate, he or she should consider questioning or hearing:

the accused

any witness that the accused or the Dean wishes to question the faculty member in whose class the violation is alleged to have occurred any written evidence used in the Associate Dean’s decision-making process any records, notes, or recordings kept by the Associate Dean.

If after reconsideration the Dean believes that there are adequate grounds for changing the decision of the Associate Dean, he or she may reverse the conviction or, if additional evidence was presented after the original decision by the Associate Dean, refer the matter back to the Associate Dean for further deliberation.

The Dean will determine whether the incident should be managed within the academic unit or forwarded to the Graduate Council. If the decision is to forward to the Council, then such notification shall be immediately made to the Chairperson of the Graduate Council.

If the Dean determines that reconsideration of the conviction or penalty is not appropriate, the accused may appeal the finding of guilt and/or the propriety of the penalty to the Graduate Council.

PROCEDURES FOR APPEAL TO THE GRADUATE COUNCIL

The Graduate Council will select two members of the Honors Panel for an Honor Committee and request that the Dean name the remainder of the Committee by: (1) selecting two members of the Graduate Honor Panel, and (2) naming one additional member of the Graduate Faculty. The Dean will appoint one member of this group as chairperson.

The Chairperson of the Honors Committee will notify the accused student(s) and will serve as an investigator to determine the facts of the case. The Honors Committee will conduct the case according to the procedures described in the following section.

Policies and procedures regarding graduate student infractions of the Honor Code are established by the Graduate Council of Mercer University. To this purpose, the Graduate Council shall establish and maintain a panel of members of the Graduate Faculty who are available to adjudicate cases of infractions reported to the Council. The members of this Panel may be called upon to serve as an Honors Committee to judge violations of the Honor Code and to recommend penalties for those found guilty of infractions. Each college or school which offers graduate programs falling under the jurisdiction of the Graduate Council shall select three members of its Graduate Faculty to serve on the Honor Panel. The Honor Panel members shall serve for staggered terms, so as to provide for continuity of experience.

ACADEMIC AND NON-ACADEMIC STUDENT GRIEVANCES

GRIEVANCE, ACADEMIC

Students have the right to bring grievances against a faculty member or an administrator concerning academic matters. A “grievance” is typically a complaint relating to some allegedly improper action or behavior. An “appeal” is typically a request for review of a routine judgment or decision. Such matters may include, but are not limited to failure to abide by requirements described in the course syllabus, arbitrary awarding of grades, discrimination based on race, color, national origin, disability, veteran status, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, age, or religion (except in limited circumstances where religious preference is both permitted by law and deemed appropriate as a matter of University policy).

Time Frame

For grievances and appeals of any kind, students are required to initiate them with the appropriate faculty member no later than thirty (30) days from the completion of the term in which the course was offered. Grievances or appeals received after this period will not be honored.

Informal Resolution Procedure

Student grievance and appeal procedures encourage each student to handle complaints as close to the source as possible. If a student has a complaint against a faculty member, the student should first attempt to resolve the issue by an informal meeting with the faculty member involved. If this is not satisfactory, or if the student believes that he or she cannot discuss the complaint with the instructor, the student may follow the Formal Resolution Procedure.

Formal Resolution Procedure

The following protocol should be followed:

The student should meet with the Associate Dean after submitting to this person a formal written account of the grievance or appeal. This narrative must be submitted no later than thirty (30) days from the date on which the student was formally notified of the instructor's decision.

If the grievance or appeal is not satisfactorily resolved by the Associate Dean, the student should meet with the Dean after submitting to the Dean a formal written account. This narrative must be submitted no later than thirty (30) days from the date on which the student was formally notified of the Associate Dean's decision.

If the grievance is not satisfactorily resolved by the Dean, the student should meet with the Provost after submitting to the Provost a formal written account of the grievance or appeal. This narrative must be submitted no later than thirty (30) days from the date on which the student was formally notified of the Dean's decision.

If the student has a grievance or appeal involving a Dean, he or she should schedule an appointment with that Dean in an attempt to resolve the matter. If the matter is not resolved or if the student believes that he or she cannot discuss the issue with that Dean, the student may address the grievance or appeal to the Provost. In all academic grievance and appeal procedures, the decision of the Provost is final.

Graduate Appeals

Dr. Wayne Glasgow

Senior Vice Provost for Research

Dean of Graduate Studies

Glasgow_WC@mercer.edu

If an appeal is not resolved within the school, forwarding an appeal to the Office of the Provost is the last step of the formal academic grievance process. The complainant would need to provide written documentation of their communication with each college/school administrator (program director/department chair, Assistant/Associate Dean, and the Dean), including the student's requests and the administrators' responses, not just a narrative of the student's complaint.

GRIEVANCE, NONACADEMIC

Policy Statement

Mercer University recognizes the importance of providing an efficient procedure for a timely and fair resolution of a nonacademic grievance. Students are encouraged to use the process to resolve allegations concerning (1) a University employee, (2) administrative policies or procedures, (3) a University program, service, or activity.

Non-academic grievances involving student conduct issues fall under “University Regulations and Judicial Programs” section of this handbook.

Procedure

Informal resolution

Many grievances may be resolved via informal personal meetings, phone calls, or e-mails directly with the employee or office responsible for the grievance. Whenever possible, students are encouraged to exercise these avenues of communication first. However, should these avenues not rectify the grievance, or the student wishes to bypass the informal resolution process, then the formal grievance process below should be implemented.

Formal Grievance

When a student wishes to file a formal complaint that is nonacademic in nature, he or she should follow these procedures:

The student should submit the complaint in writing to the University employee responsible for the action or event that forms the basis of the grievance. This statement should be titled “Formal Grievance” and contain a brief statement of the grievance and the remedies sought. A copy of the statement must also be presented to the employee’s supervisor and the Associate Vice President of Human Resources. The complaint should be submitted to the employee within ten (10) days of the action or event that forms the basis of the grievance.

The employee respondent will then meet with the student along with their supervisor or the Associate Vice President of Human Resources to discuss the complaint within ten (10) days of receipt of the written formal grievance. The employee respondent will reply in writing to the student with the results of the discussion at the meeting and plans for further action, if any, within ten (10) days of the meeting. A copy of this reply will be provided to the Associate Vice President of Human Resources.

If a student is not satisfied with the results of the discussion and/or with the reply and wants the formal grievance to be considered further, the student may appeal in writing to the employee respondent’s supervisor. A copy of this appeal must be sent to the Associate Vice President of Human Resources. This appeal to the supervisor must begin within ten (10) days after the student receives the written reply from the employee responsible for the action or event that forms the basis of the grievance. A written reply indicating the results of the appeal including further action, if any, to be taken will be sent to the student by the employee’s supervisor within ten (10) days of the meeting between the student and the employee’s supervisor. A copy of this response will be sent to the Associate Vice President for Human Resources.

If the student is not satisfied with the results of the appeal to the supervisor and wants the formal grievance to be considered further, the student will have an opportunity for further appeal as follows: In the case of complaints concerning employees, policies, procedures, or programs of a nonacademic nature within a specific school or college, the student may appeal to the Dean with responsibility for the employee's unit and request a meeting in order to seek a resolution. This appeal must begin within ten (10) days after the employee's supervisor has completed consideration of the grievance and responded in writing to the student. A written reply from the Dean indicating the results of the meeting and including further action, if any, to be taken will be sent to the student within ten (10) days after consideration of the formal grievance. A copy of the appeal and the response from the Dean must be provided to the Associate Vice President of Human Resources.

If the student is not satisfied with the decision of the Dean, the student may appeal in writing to the Provost with responsibility for the school or college and request a meeting. The appeal must begin within ten (10) days of the date the Dean has completed consideration of the formal grievance and responded in writing to the student. A written reply by the Provost indicating the results of the meeting and including further action, if any, to be taken will be sent to the student within ten (10) days after consideration of the grievance. The decision of the Provost with responsibility for the employee's unit will be the final University decision on the grievance. A copy of the appeal to the Provost and the Provost response will be copied to the Associate Vice President of Human Resources.

In the case of complaints concerning employees, policies, procedures, or programs of a nonacademic nature outside of the administrative organization of a specific school or college, the student may appeal to the Vice President with responsibility for the employee's unit and request a meeting in order to seek a resolution. This appeal must begin within ten (10) days after the employee's supervisor has completed consideration of the formal grievance and responded in writing to the student. A written reply from the Vice President indicating the results of the meeting and including further action, if any, to be taken will be sent to the student within ten (10) days after consideration of the grievance. The decision of the Vice President with responsibility for the employee's unit will be the final University decision on the formal grievance. A copy of the complaint to the Vice President and their response will be submitted to the Associate Vice President of Human Resources.

The Dean of students or student affairs designee on each campus serves as a resource for students seeking assistance with grievance procedures.

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS PLAN

Communication

In the event of a broad emergency that has the potential to harm people and/or facilities, it is important for students, faculty and staff to be aware of the following information.

In the event of an emergency, Mercer Police and the administration will provide alerts and vital information using a variety of formats including emergency text messages, emails, and the office phone system. It is important to note the following

All Mercer faculty, staff, and students are strongly urged to register for emergency text messages. Faculty with policies prohibiting student cell phone use in the classroom should actively monitor their own cell phones for emergency text messages.

Initial notifications may be based on partial data, with the goal to inform campus or RAC occupants of a developing situation requiring immediate action to protect life, safety and facilities.

The messaging system will be used to deliver additional emergency information, or that the dangerous event and/or conditions are under control, or "all clear."

Emergency Evacuation and Safety Procedures

Fire

When a fire alarm is activated, evacuation is mandatory

Do not use elevators in an evacuation.

Close doors as you exit.

Move away from the building in danger (500 feet) or as directed by emergency response personnel.

Lockdown

Should the campus experience a violent act (such as an active shooter), a lockdown of the University may be ordered by Mercer Police.

Close all interior doors

Immediately go to the closest enclosed area. If possible, choose a room without windows that has a locking door.

Lock and/or blockade the doors.

Turn out lights and draw blinds.

Silence your cell phone, remain quiet, and stay out of sight.

Wait for an “All Clear” signal or notice from Mercer Police and/or local emergency response personnel.

If outside during the notification, consider leaving the campus if possible.

Severe Weather

Lock office door.

If possible, move to designated severe weather area of the building.

Do not use elevators.

Avoid glass doors and windows.

Crouch as low as possible to the floor, keeping your face down. Cover your head with your hands.
